What Our Mothers Didn't Tell Us Danielle Crittenden, 2009-08-25 Talk to women under forty today and you will hear that in spite of the fact that they have achieved goals previous generations of women could only dream of they nonetheless feel more confused and insecure than ever What has gone wrong What can be done to set it right These are the questions Danielle Crittenden answers in What Our Mothers Didn't Tell Us She examines the foremost issues in women's lives sex marriage motherhood work aging and politics and argues that a generation of women has been misled taught to blame men and pursue independence at all costs Happiness is obtainable Crittenden says but only if women will free their minds from outdated feminist attitudes By drawing on her own experience and a decade of research and analysis of modern female life Crittenden passionately and engagingly tackles the myths that keep women from realizing the happiness they deserve And she introduces a new way of thinking about society's problems that may at long last help women achieve the lives they desire

What is it about certain books that makes them bestsellers Why do some of these books remain popular for centuries and others fade gently into obscurity And why is it that when scholars do turn their attention to bestsellers they seem only to be interested in the same handful of blockbusters when so many books that were once immensely popular remain under examined Addressing those and other equally pressing questions about popular literature Must Read is the first scholarly collection to offer both a survey of the evolution of American bestsellers as well as critical readings of some of the key texts that have shaped the American imagination since the nation's founding Focusing on a mix of enduring and forgotten bestsellers the essays in this collection consider 18th and 19th century works like Charlotte Temple or Ben Hur that were once considered epochal but are now virtually ignored 20th century favorites such as The Sheik and Peyton Place and 21st century blockbusters including the novels of Nicholas Sparks The Kite Runner and The Da Vinci Code ,
