This Thing Called Reason Benjamin K. Akih, 2025-05-06 This book offers a conceptual analysis of reason proposing a plausible theory to resolve persistent vagueness in the historical use of the concept The proposed theory leads to the view that reason is fundamentally subjective and dependent on non inferential matters of faith Despite the inherent subjectivity we can arrive at a consensus in reasoning exercises because we all participate in a universal minimum religion that grounds all reasoning True atheism is therefore impossible This analysis bears on debates about the relation between faith and reason as well as the relation between ethics based on reason and ethics based on sentiments The book further shows that this new and original view of religiously constrained reason ought to equally inform our thinking about applied ethics such as politics law and economics Time: A Philosophical Introduction James Harrington, 2015-09-24 Time A Philosophical Introduction presents the philosophy of time as the central debate between being and the becoming This core theme brings together the key topics debates and thinkers making ideas such as Zeno's paradoxes the experience of change and temporal flow and the direction and shape of time and time travel clear and understandable Alongside a glossary and detailed timeline to further enhance study and understanding each chapter features Extensive lists of further reading in both primary and secondary sources A chronological listing of key figures brief biographical data and references True false questions matching multiple choice and short answer questions Time is a central philosophical subject impacting on all many different aspects of philosophy More technical discussions of issues from mathematics logic and physics are separated into Technical Interludes allowing readers to choose their level of difficulty As a result this comprehensive introduction is essential reading for upper level undergraduates studying the philosophy of time metaphysics or the philosophy of science
