Systematic Reviews of Research in Basic Education in South Africa Felix Maringe, 2021-04-09 Maringe ought to be commended for putting together an invaluable contribution to our understanding of research into a complex education system in South Africa This volume provides a useful foundation to the current state of education quality in South Africa including the impact of interventions It also brings to the fore challenges still facing education transformation The evidence presented which taken together lays out a coherent view of how improvements could be made

Albert Chanee Head of Planning Gauteng Department of Education For too long the weight of educational scholarship produced in South Africa has been limited to that simple and standard form called the literature review Now for the first time education researchers are provided with an African based text on the concepts and methods of conducting systematic reviews In this exceptional work of editorship Felix Maringe brings together some of the leading researchers on South African education to model and demonstrate how to review a significant body of research on a chosen topic which is adjudicated strictly on the basis of the quality and efficacy of the evidence in hand I have no doubt that this remarkable book will become a standard reference for educational researchers in and beyond the African continent It will also lift the quality of educational inquiry by equipping a new generation of scholars with the capacity for doing evidence based research that compels the attention of policymakers planners and practitioners alike Prof Jonathan Jansen Stellenbosch University The Saturday Review of Politics,

Expert Systems in Environmental Planning Jeff R. Wright,Lyna L. Wiggins,Ravinder K. Jain,T.John Kim,2012-12-06
The connections between economics planning and the environment are receiv ing increased attention among scholars and policy makers in many countries The common denominator among these three variables is the earth s life support sys tems

the ecosystems on which the world depends When we describe our physical surroundings as a collection of possible uses we are establishing linkages between economics planning and the environment Because possible alternative uses compete with each other and conflicts arise over scarce land resources the varying environmental impacts of alternative uses are major concerns for the current as well as the next generation How to achieve sustainable development is the pressing question for today's environmental professionals Environmental planners and engineers help us study the implications of our choices and new technologies and techniques that improve the practice of environmental planning should enhance our ability to protect our future The depletion of the earth's natural resources and loss of biodiversity the degradation of air land and water quality the accumulation of greenhouse gases leading to changes in our climate and the depletion of the ozone layer comprise only a partial list of environmental issues that concern our policy makers To support their decisions environmental planning must be a multidimensional and multidisciplinary activity that incorporates social economic political geographical and technical factors Solutions for problems in these areas frequently require not only numerical analyses but also heuristic analyses which in turn depend on the intuitive judgements of planners and engineers
