The Synchronized Society Randall Patnode, 2023-03-17 The Synchronized Society traces the history of the synchronous broadcast experience of the twentieth century and the transition to the asynchronous media that dominate today. Broadcasting grew out of the latent desire by nineteenth-century industrialists, political thinkers and social reformers to tame an unruly society by controlling how people used their time. The idea manifested itself in the form of the broadcast schedule a managed flow of information and entertainment that required audiences to be in a particular place usually the home at a particular time and helped to create water cooler moments as audiences reflected on their shared media texts Audiences began disconnecting from the broadcast schedule at the end of the twentieth century but promoters of social media and television services still kept audiences under control replacing the schedule with surveillance of media use Author Randall Patnode offers compelling new insights into the intermingled roles of broadcasting and industrial post industrial work and how Americans spend their time Informal STEM Learning at Home and in Community Spaces Bradley Morris,Brenna Hassinger-Das,Rachael Todaro,Jennifer DeWitt,2024-03-22 Children in Western countries spend only about 20% of their waking time in school Meltzoff et al 2009 Leveraging the 80% of time that they spend outside of school can provide children with opportunities to engage in meaningful authentic STEM learning experiences with family members other caregivers and children STEM learning and readiness go beyond acquiring content knowledge to include interest engagement and motivation for STEM learning as well as the formation of a STEM identity To date there has been a dearth of research focusing on children s informal STEM experiences when compared to formal school based STEM learning experiences This Research Topic focuses attention on the authentic everyday experiences of children and how these experiences provide opportunities for STEM learning engagement and identity In addition these papers will explore how these everyday experiences can be leveraged and augmented to promote STEM learning and engagement through culturally relevant design and implementation Reshaping Change Patrick Dawson,2019-05-22 This book views change as an ongoing process that should not be solidified or treated as a series of linear events In drawing on data collected from over 40 years of research it highlights the theoretical and practical value of using a processual perspective Illustrative examples from a range of organizations including Micro X General Motors Pirelli Cables BHP Billiton Royal Dutch Shell British Rail British Aerospace Hewlett Packard Laubman and Pank and the CSIRO make the approach understandable and accessible to both researchers and practitioners In a theoretical exploration of temporal context sociomaterial relations and power political processes the dynamics of changing organizations is brought to the fore and the implication for reshaping change examined On the practice of engaging in longitudinal research study design data collection and processual analysis as well as the write up and dissemination of findings are all considered This is an innovative and highly practical research monograph that captures the truly complex processes of changing organizations and illustrates how these are best understood from a processual perspective Footprints in Paradise Andrea E.
