Working With Children Adolescents And Their Families:

Counselling Children, Adolescents and Families John Sharry, 2003-12-04 I recommend this book to anyone who lives or works with families children or teenagers Nurturing Potential This is a valuable book worth attention in every child and family service My own agency has ordered a copy Robert Cumming Nurturing Potential John Sharry's book is a jewel in the solution focused literature It is clearly and engagingly written draws on a host of ideas from different therapeutic approaches and is packed with practical examples There is no better book on strengths based therapy with children and adolescents Every team should have one Chris Iveson Brief Therapy Practice Counselling Children Adolescents and Families describes an innovative approach to therapeutic work which builds on the strengths of children and their parents As the author's experience shows helping clients to focus on potential solutions rather than problems can be a powerful means of engaging them in the therapeutic process even in the most conflicting family circumstances Harnessing the client's personal family and community resources in this way also helps counteract their feelings of powerlessness and the possibility of increasing reliance on professional services Part One outlines the basic principles of a solution focused and strengths based approach tackling such thorny issues as how and when to use diagnosis Part two describes creative applications of the approach using groupwork play based activities and video feedback Part Three examines practical issues which arise in more difficult cases such as child abuse and suicidal teenagers and children This book is aimed at professionals and trainees in fields including social work mental health childcare education psychotherapy and counselling

Residential Interventions for Children, Adolescents, and Families Gary M. Blau, Beth Caldwell, Robert E. Lieberman, 2014-06-05 Now more than ever there is a need to ensure that best practices are being used in residential programs As the focus on costs and outcomes increase residential programs must clearly demonstrate that the interventions provided are efficient and effective Readers will learn how to Create strength based empowering and healing environments Better engage and partner with children adolescents and families in meaningful ways Support those who have experienced trauma and loss and to prevent and eliminate the use of restraint and seclusion Respect and include cultural indices in practices Train mentor supervise support and empower staff about how to deliver promising and best practices and evidence informed and evidence based interventions and Track long term outcomes and create funding strategies to better support sustained positive outcomes This book encourages readers to think strategically about how agencies communities and systems can identify and implement actions that lead to positive change and how to work more collaboratively to improve the lives of children and adolescents who have experienced emotional and behavioral life challenges and their families

Working with Children, Adolescents, and Their Families, Third Edition Director of the Burgess Center for West Virginia Families and Communities Karen Harper-Dorton, Martin Herbert, 2002-06 Updated and new this practice text has both US and UK authors of distinction It targets working with children and their families in the context of their daily lives in their homes families and communities The authors use a problem solving approach to provide helping strategies for a variety of problems and problem behaviors that occur in families Professors Harper Dorton and Herbert take into account current pressures for short term care attention to measuring outcomes family permanency and various family structures and support systems that include mentoring and empowering families for their lifelong journey in their communities and homes This latest edition retains the merits of the earlier editions but is enhanced by expanded coverage of cross cultural issues family mentoring and problems specific to adolescence

Working with Children, Adolescents, and Their Families Martin Herbert, Karen V. Harper-Dorton, 2002 This new edition of a core text targets working with children and their families in the context of their daily lives in their homes families and communities The authors use a problem solving approach to provide helping strategies for a variety of problems and problem behaviors that occur in families Cover Specialty Competencies in Clinical Child and Adolescent Psychology Alfred J. Finch, Jr., John E. Lochman, W. Michael Nelson, III, Michael C. Roberts, 2012-02-03 The specialty of clinical child and adolescent psychology has a history that dates back to the turn of the century when the first psychological clinic for children was reportedly established As it is currently applied this broad and wide ranging specialty took organizational shape from the 1960s through the 1990s and today child and adolescent psychology shares many characteristics and plays a collaborative role other specialties within professional psychology These include clinical psychology cognitive and behavioral psychology school psychology and clinical health psychology In this volume Dr Finch and his co authors provide a comprehensive demonstration of the competencies involved in this specialty extending far beyond the scope of the age of its identified patient population Offering an evidence based best practices model of intervention informed by an integration of multiple professional competencies from a range of other specialty areas this book is an invaluable resource for all those interested in pursuing the clinical child and adolescent specialty practice Series in Specialty Competencies in Professional Psychology Series Editors Arthur M Nezu and Christine Maguth Nezu As the field of psychology continues to grow and new specialty areas emerge and achieve recognition it has become increasingly important to define the standards of professional specialty practice Developed and conceived in response to this need for practical guidelines this series presents methods strategies and techniques for conducting day to day practice in any given psychology specialty The topical volumes address best practices across the functional and foundational competencies that characterize the various psychology specialties including clinical psychology cognitive and behavioral psychology school psychology geropsychology forensic psychology clinical neuropsychology couples and family psychology and more Functional competencies include common practice activities like assessment and intervention while foundational competencies represent core knowledge areas such as ethical and legal issues cultural diversity and professional identification In addition to describing these competencies each volume provides a definition description and development timeline of a particular specialty including its essential and characteristic pattern of activities as well as its distinctive and unique features Written by recognized experts in their respective fields volumes are comprehensive up to date and accessible These volumes offer invaluable guidance to not only practicing mental health professionals but those training for specialty practice as well
