Gender Responsive Justice Karen Evans, 2017-07-20 At the end of the twentieth century a step change in thinking about the offending behaviour of women began to impact on policy makers concerned with the treatment of female offenders A growing number of nations states and organisations both national and supra national in nature began to acknowledge that existing criminal justice and especially penal practices had not been sufficiently attentive to women's needs and had discriminated against women as a result The concept of gender responsive justice an orientation to working with women and girls based around a consideration of the special needs of women as prisoners and their particular pathways to offending has been developed as a result This book explores the development of this concept the theories which have informed it policy arenas in which gender responsive justice has been attempted and the practices of gender responsive justice which have subsequently emerged This book takes a global perspective as it outlines the different international and national arenas within which gender responsive justice gained favour and considers what has been learned from this novel and feminist inspired approach Gender responsive justice has not been without its critics however and this book also examines the different arguments which have been used to attack or critique the concept from varied perspectives This book lays down a clear theoretical framework for understanding gender responsive justice and will be useful in assessing current and future policy making in this area

The History, Evolution, and Current State of Female Offenders Alana Van Gundy, Shauntey James, 2022-01-20

The History Evolution and Current State of Female Offenders Recommendations for Advancing the Field summarizes what the field has learned about females and crime details the status of legislation and criminological research focused on female criminality and provides recommendations for advancing the field Van Gundy and James present the material from a gendered approach with the goal of analyzing the current understanding of the relationship between gender and crime Tracing the intellectual history of feminist criminology from its foundations to the present time the authors follow four primary themes What do we know about the relationship between gender and crime What special needs do female offenders have What works and doesn't work for female offenders What can or should we do from here Reaching back to Carol Smart's seminal 1976 book Women Crime and Criminology A Feminist Critique available through Routledge Revivals the authors note that in some ways modest progress has been made but large gaps in research and policy still exist This much needed book provides an overarching view of the history and evolution of the understanding of the relationship between gender and crime detailed analysis of seminal work and criminological studies an exploration of incarceration reentry and programming and concrete recommendations for future research These recommendations focus on the importance of creating and utilizing theoretical models that measure the role of gender and identity inclusion of female specific variables when examining and responding to criminality and the necessity of policymakers and legislators to address female criminality from a gendered lens The book will appeal to those who are interested in females and criminality race and ethnicity policy and evaluation criminal behavior criminology and students in courses in sociology psychology women and gender studies social justice black world studies gerontology and criminology criminal justice as well as policymakers and practitioners in the field It will inspire researchers to ask the kinds of questions that will advance the field of feminist criminology in the future

Women and the Criminal Justice System Katherine Stuart van Wormer, Clemens Bartollas, 2021-12-30

This book presents an up to date analysis of women as victims of crime as individuals under justice system supervision and as professionals in the field The text features an empowerment approach that is unified by underlying themes of the intersection of gender race and class and evidence based research Personal narratives supplement research and statistics to help students connect the text material with real life situations This new edition is informed by consideration of major ongoing social movements such as MeToo Black Lives Matter and the fight to reduce mass incarceration The text stresses contemporary topics such as recognition of lesbian bisexual and transgender issues in juvenile and adult facilities the introduction of trauma informed care in detention centers and prisons the criminalization of Black girls and women the effects of an increasingly militarized police culture and the contributions of Ruth Bader Ginsburg and other influential women With its emphasis on critical thinking this text is ideal for undergraduate courses concerning women in the justice system Working with Women Offenders in the Community Rosemary Sheehan, Gill McIvor, Chris Trotter, 2010-12-21 Contributions to this book challenge policy makers and corrections systems to concentrate on community provision for women offenders and resist popular calls for more punitive responses to all offenders women included Contributors come from a wide range of countries including Australia Canada UK and USA They argue that the criminogenic lens applied to women s offending must be gender responsive if systems are to be successful at addressing the disadvantage and risk associated with offending behaviour Feminist Theory, Crime, and Social Justice Alana Van Gundy, 2014-09-25 Feminist Theory Crime and Social Justice offers an insightful look at the primarily masculine driven perspective on crime and justice through the lens of feminist theory The book presents the argument that an increased understanding of the female crime typology life course and gender specific programming will improve social justice for offenders Discussions on the direct implications of the way society views crime and justice contribute to policy recommendations for helping to improve these views specifically as they relate to female crime A Halfway House for Women Gail A. Caputo, 2014-07-01 Although halfway houses have been touted for years as affirmative rehabilitation locations that ready women for life in the outside world in this remarkable case study Gail Caputo shows how these places reinforce patterns of control and abuse that reaffirm the dependency and victimization of the inmates Based on observations made while living and working alongside women at a halfway house within the prison system in a city in the Northeast Caputo s analysis is anchored in the words and experiences of over a dozen women Organized according to the progression of levels residents traverse during their time in the house and the rules and behaviors associated with each level Caputo offers a riveting look at what passes for rehabilitation and reintegration in such places and delineates the many ways these women retain agency by resisting regulations designed to keep them in their place Women and Children as Victims and Offenders: Background, Prevention, Reintegration Helmut Kury, Sławomir Redo, Evelyn Shea, 2016-06-20 This work compiles experiences and lessons learned in meeting the unique needs of women and children regarding crime prevention and criminal justice in particular the treatment and social reintegration of offenders and serves as a cross disciplinary work for academic and policy making analyses and follow up in developing and developed countries Furthermore it argues for a more humane and effective approach to countering delinquency and crime among future generations In a world where development positively depends on the rule of law and the related investment security two global trends may chart the course of development urbanization and education Urbanization will globalize the concepts of justice and fairness education will be dominated by the urban mindset and digital service economy just as a culture of lawfulness will This work looks at crime prevention education as an investment in the sustainable quality of life of succeeding generations and at those who pursue such crime prevention as the providers of much needed skills in the educational portfolio Adopting a reformist approach this work collects articles with findings and recommendations that may be relevant to domestic and international policymaking including the United Nations Studies and their educational value for the welfare of coming generations The books address the relevant United Nations ideas by combining them with academic approaches Guided by the Editors respective fields of expertise and in full recognition of academic freedom and organized scepticism it includes contributions by lawyers criminologists sociologists and other eminent experts seeking to bridge the gap between academic and policy perspectives as appropriate against the international background including the United Nations developments The second volume opens with Part IV which presents articles on different kinds of crime prevention The effectiveness of punishment and in particular imprisonment is examined by contrasting it with alternative sanctions and the following questions are raised Does harsh punishment have a crime preventive effect What are the side effects of imprisonment on the offenders and their families Are alternatives such as restorative justice or mediation more effective and cheaper Part V outlines proactive strategies of crime prevention e g for potential sex offenders or in the domain of internet crime Part VI envisions a more peaceful and inclusive society which would be realized by improving the protection of women and children in their everyday life and easing the reintegration of those who have become offenders The importance of the role played by the UN in formulating these goals is underlined The volume concludes with an epilogue of the 70th President of the United Nations Economic and Social Council Martin Sajdik and a post scriptum of the editors p
