facilitates the pursuit of more modest goals of agency and belonging as opposed to the utopian illusions of fundamentalist Muslim doctrines

States and Women's Rights Mounira Charrad, 2001 At a time when the situation of women in the Islamic world is of global interest here is a study that unlocks the mystery of why women's fates vary so greatly from one country to another Mounira M Charrad analyzes the distinctive nature of Islamic legal codes by placing them in the larger context of state power in various societies Charrad argues that many analysts miss what is going on in Islamic societies because they fail to recognize the logic of the kin based model of social and political life which she contrasts with the Western class centered model In a skillful synthesis she shows how the logic of Islamic legal codes and kin based political power affect the position of women These provide the key to Charrad's empirical puzzle why after colonial rule women in Tunisia gained broad legal rights even in the absence of a feminist protest movement while despite similarities in culture and religion women remained subordinated in post independence Morocco and Algeria Charrad's elegant theory crisp writing and solid scholarship make a unique contribution in developing a state building paradigm to discuss women's rights This book will interest readers in the fields of sociology politics law women's studies postcolonial studies Middle Eastern studies Middle Eastern history French history and Maghrib studies
