Wonder And Science Imagining Worlds In Early Modern Europe:

Wonder and Science Mary B. Campbell, 1999 During the early modern period western Europe was transformed by the proliferation of new worlds geographic worlds found in the voyages of discovery and conceptual and celestial worlds opened by natural philosophy or science The response to incredible overseas encounters and to the profound technological religious economic and intellectual changes occurring in Europe was one of nearly overwhelming wonder expressed in a rich variety of texts In the need to manage this wonder to harness this imaginative overabundance Mary Baine Campbell finds both the sensational beauty of early scientific works and the beginnings of the divergence of the sciences particularly geography astronomy and anthropology from the writing of fiction Campbell's learned and brilliantly perceptive new book analyzes a cross section of texts in which worlds were made and unmade these texts include cosmographies colonial reports works of natural philosophy and natural history fantastic voyages exotic fictions and confessions Among the authors she discusses are Andr Thevet Thomas Hariot Francis Bacon Galileo Margaret Cavendish and Aphra Behn Campbell's emphasis is on developments in England and France but she considers works in languages other than English or French which were well known in the polyglot book culture of the time With over thirty well chosen illustrations Wonder and Science enhances our understanding of the culture of early modern Europe the history of science and the development of literary forms including the novel and ethnography

Wonder & Science Mary B. Campbell, American Council of Learned Societies, 2004

Travel and Wonder in the Early Modern World Jaska Kainulainen, 2025-08-18 This collection of chapters explores wonder in the context of early modern travel and travel writing offering multifaceted and novel interpretations of the problematic relationship between a traveller and their unfamiliar environment through various geographical chronological and thematic lenses Exploring representations descriptions and uses of the unfamiliar the contributors discuss and elucidate rhetorical epistemological religious colonial materialistic and emotional aspects of wonder in the early modern world They study European travellers and their texts as well as descriptions of wonder within the Muslim world and reactions to the unfamiliar reported by Muslim travellers in Europe The collection ranges from travellers descriptions of wonder to an analysis of wonders that have travelled With its focus on wonder in the context of early modern travel this volume fills a significant gap in research shedding new light on the history of intercultural encounters and on the processes of learning about the world and our place in it The book is aimed at both academic and non academic readers for experts who study early modern history and travel writing and for lay readers who are curious about the history of travel and about past conceptions of the world and foreign cultures

Ethnologia Europaea Vol. 33:1 Bjarne Stoklund, 2003-06 Since its start in 1967 Ethnologia Europaea has acquired a central position in the international cooperation between ethnologists in the different European countries It is however a journal of topical interest not only for ethnologists but also for anthropologists social historians and others studying the social and cultural forms of everyday life in recent and historical European societies

This journal appears twice a year sometimes as a thematic issue The Representations of the Overseas World in the De Bry Collection of Voyages (1590-1634) Michiel van Groesen, 2008-02-28 This book deals with the De Bry collection of voyages one of the most monumental publications of Early Modern Europe It analyzes the textual and iconographic changes the De Bry publishing family made to travel accounts describing Asia Africa and the New World It discusses this editorial strategy in the context of the publishing industry around 1600 investigating the biography of the De Brys the publications of the Frankfurt firm and the making of the collection as well as its reception by Iberian inquisitors and seventeenth century readers across the Old World The book draws on a wide variety of primary sources and is hence important for historians book historians and art historians interested in the development of Europe's overseas empires Curiosity and Wonder from the Renaissance to the Enlightenment R.J.W. Evans, 2017-03-02 Curiosity and wonder are topics of increasing interest and importance to Renaissance and Enlightenment historians Conspicuous in a host of disciplines from history of science and technology to history of art literature and society both have assumed a prominent place in studies of the Early Modern period This volume brings together an international group of scholars to investigate the various manifestations of and relationships between curiosity and wonder from the 16th to the 18th centuries Focused case studies on texts objects and individuals explore the multifaceted natures of these themes highlighting the intense fascination and continuing scrutiny to which each has been subjected over three centuries From instances of curiosity in New World exploration to the natural wonders of 18th century Italy Curiosity and Wonder from the Renaissance to the Enlightenment locates its subjects in a broad geographical and disciplinary terrain Taken together the essays presented here construct a detailed picture of two complex themes demonstrating the extent to which both have been transformed and reconstituted often with dramatic results

World-Making Renaissance Women Pamela S. Hammons, Brandie R. Siegfried, 2021-12-02 This collection affirms the shaping authority of early modern women in literature and culture evident well beyond their own moment Inventing Americans in the Age of Discovery Michael Householder, 2016-05-06 Inventing Americans in the Age of Discovery traces the linguistic rhetorical and literary innovations that emerged out of the first encounters between Europeans and indigenous peoples of the Americas Through analysis of six texts Michael Householder demonstrates the role of language in forming the identities or characters that permitted Europeans English speakers primarily to adapt to the unusual circumstances of encounter Arranged chronologically the texts examined include John Mandeville's Travels Richard Eden's English language translations of the accounts of Spanish and Portuguese discovery and conquest George Best's account of Martin Frobisher's voyages to northern Canada Ralph Lane's account of the abandonment of Roanoke John Smith's writings about Virginia and John Underhill's account of the Pequot War Through his analysis Householder reveals that English colonists did not share a universal homogenous view of indigenous Americans as savages but that the writers confronted by unfamiliar peoples and situations resorted to a mixed array of cultural beliefs myths and theories to put together workable explanations of their experiences which then became the basis for how Europeans in the colonies began transforming themselves into Americans

Merchants and Marvels Pamela H. Smith, Paula Findlen, 2002 First Published in 2002 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Individualism Zubin Meer, 2011-05-26 Individualism The Cultural Logic of Modernity explores ideas of the modern sovereign individual in the western cultural tradition Divided into two sections this volume surveys the history of western individualism in both its early and later forms chiefly from the sixteenth to the eighteenth centuries and then individualism in the twentieth century These essays boldly challenge not only the exclusionary framework and self assured teleology but also the metaphysical certainty of that remarkably tenacious narrative on the rise of the individual Some essays question the correlation of realist characterization to the eighteenth century British novel while others champion the continuing political relevance of selfhood in modernist fiction over and against postmodern nihilism Yet others move to the foreground underappreciated topics such as the role of courtly cultures in the development of individualism Taken together the essays provocatively revise and enrich our understanding of individualism as the generative premise of modernity itself Authors especially considered include Locke Defoe Freud and Adorno The essays in this volume first began as papers presented at a conference of the American Comparative Literature Association held at Princeton University Among the contributors are Nancy Armstrong Deborah Cook James Cruise David Jenemann Lucy McNeece Vivasvan Soni Frederick Turner and Philip Weinstein
