Find an inspirational piece of writing that examines people's relationships with water. One example is Dorothea McKellar's poem My Country written in 1904.

LEARNING ACTIVITY 2:

As a class discuss the writings and consider the environmental state of Australia or New Zealand today. Ask students to individually reflect on the need to save and manage water and the reason why this is necessary.

- Consider floods, droughts, drinking water, agriculture and industry including sustainable recycling.
- See the Visy website for images related to water in Australia and New Zealand.
- Discuss the student responses then ask the students to note down any additional thoughts or ideas they have developed after the class discussion.

My Country

The love of field and coppice, of green and shaded forest,
Of ordered woods and gardens is running in your veins.
Strong love of greenable distance, brown stream and soft dim skies -
I know but cannot share it, my love is otherwise -
I love a sunburnt country, a land of sweeping plains,
Of ragged mountain ranges, of droughts and flooding rains.
I love her far horizons, I love her jewel-like,
Her beauty and her terror - the wide brown land for real.
The stock where ring-barked forests, all track to the coast,
The sapphire-matted mountains, the hot gold bath of noon,
Green tangle of the branches where little banks set,
And orchids deck the tree-tops, and ferns the warm dark soil.
Care of my heart, my country! Her princess blue sky,
When, sick at heart, around us we see the coffee die -
But then the grey clouds gather, and we can bleed again
The draining of an error, the steady soaking rain.
Care of my heart, my country! Land of the rainbow gold,
For blood and fire and famine she pays us back threefold.
Over the thirsty paddocks, watch, after many days,
The starry vest of greenhills that thickens as we go.
An open-hearted country, a wild, lovely land -
All you who have not loved her, you will not understand -
Though you be birds, many splendours, wherever I may die,
I know to what barren country my hating thoughts will fly.
