Tropical Forest Insect Pests Ecology Impact And Management:

Tropical Forest Insect Pests K. S. S. Nair, 2007-05-10 Publisher description Insect Pests in Tropical Forestry F. R. Wylie, M. R. Speight, 2012 Insects are major pests of both natural and plantation forests in the tropics This book is the first to provide a broad based international review of this subject at a level suitable for advanced students and practitioners It describes the ecology and biology of the insects with special reference to the economic damage they cause to trees All relevant control strategies are addressed It is suitable for students researchers and practitioners of forestry ecology pest management and entomology in tropical and subtropical countries Insect Pests in Tropical Forestry F. R. Wylie, Martin R. Speight, 2012 The management of tropical forest ecosystems is essential to the health of the planet This book addresses forest insect pest problems across the world s tropics addressing the pests ecology impact and possible approaches for their control Fully updated this second edition also includes discussions of new areas of interest including climate change invasive species forest health and plant clinics This work is an indispensable resource for students researchers and practitioners of forestry ecology pest management and entomology in tropical and subtropical countries pub desc Integrated Pest Management in Tropical Regions Carmelo Rapisarda, Giuseppe E Massimino Cocuzza, 2017-12-11 This book provides up to date and comprehensive coverage of the research and application of Integrated Pest Management IPM in tropical regions The first section explores the agro ecological framework that represents the foundations of IPM in addition to emerging technologies in chemical and biological methods that are core to pest control in tropical crops The second section follows a crop based approach and provides details of current IPM applications in the main tropical food crops such as cereals legumes root and tuber crops sugarcane vegetables banana and plantain citrus oil palm tea cocoa and coffee and also fibre crops such as cotton and tropical forests Ecological Methods in Forest Pest Management David Wainhouse, 2005 Throughout the world there is a need to control forest insect pests This text focuses predominantly on insect pests but many examples relate to fungal pathogens some of which are vectored by forest insects It looks at the development of Integrated Pest Management IPM Innovative Pest Management Approaches for the 21st Century Akshay Kumar Chakravathy, 2020-03-20 Several Integrated Pest Management IPM approaches are available for managing pests of varied kinds including individual and integrated methods for pest suppression Recently the focus has shifted to pest management tools that act on insect systems selectively are compatible with the environment and are not harmful for ecosystems Other approaches target specific biochemical and physiological aspects of insect metabolism and involve biotechnological and genetic manipulation Still other approaches include the use of nanotechnology endophytes optical and sonic manipulation to detect and control pest insects Unfortunately conventional forms of pest management do not focus on technology transfer to the ground level workers and farmers As a result farmers are incurring huge losses of crops and revenues This book highlights the importance of using communication tools in pest management and demonstrates some success stories of utilizing automated unmanned technologies in this context The content is divided into three sections the first of which Pest Population Monitoring Modern Tools covers long and short range pest population monitoring techniques and tools such as satellites unmanned aerial vehicles drones remote sensing digital tools like GIS GPS for mapping lidar mobile apps software systems artificial diet designs and functional diversity of info chemicals The second section of the book is devoted to Emerging Areas in Pest Management and offers a glimpse of diversified tactics that have been developed to contain and suppress pest populations such as endophytes insect vectors of phytoplasma Hymenopterans parasitoids mass production and utilization of NPV etc In turn the third section focuses on Integrated Pest Management and presents farming situations that illustrate how research in diversified aspects has helped to find solutions to specific pest problems and how some new and evolving tactics can be practically implemented Given its scope the book offers a valuable asset for entomology and plant pathology researchers students of zoology and plant protection and readers whose work involves agriculture horticulture forestry and other ecosystems

Routledge Handbook of Forest Ecology Kelvin S.-H. Peh, Richard T. Corlett, Yves Bergeron, 2024-10-07 The Routledge Handbook of Forest Ecology is an essential resource covering all aspects of forest ecology from a global perspective This new edition has been fully revised and updated throughout to reflect the profound and unprecedented changes in both forests and climates since the publication of the first edition in 2015 The handbook reflects key developments in the field of forest dynamics and large scale processes as well as the changes that are now manifesting in different types of forests across the globe as a result of climate change It covers both natural and managed forests from boreal temperate sub tropical and tropical regions of the world In this second edition the breadth of the handbook has been expanded with new chapters on mountain forests monodominance pathogens and invertebrate pests and amphibians and reptiles in forest ecosystems Original author teams are complemented by the addition of new authors to offer fresh perspectives and the second edition places greater emphasis on the applicability of each topic at a global level The handbook is divided into seven parts Part I The forest Part II Forest dynamics Part III Forest flora and fauna Part IV Energy and nutrients Part V Forest conservation and management Part VI Forest and climate change Part VII Human ecology The Routledge Handbook of Forest Ecology is an essential reference text for a wide range of students and scholars of ecology environmental science forestry geography and natural resource management

Forest Pest and Disease Management in Latin America Sergio A. Estay, 2020-02-26 By providing multiple economic goods and ecosystem services Latin American forests play a key role in the environmental social and economic welfare of the region s countries From the tropical forests of Central America to the Mediterranean and temperate vegetation of the southern cone these forests face a myriad of phytosanitary problems that negatively impact on both conservation efforts and forest industry This book brings together the perspectives of several Latin American researchers on pest and disease management Each chapter provides modern views of the status and management alternatives to problems as serious as the impact of introduced exotic insects and diseases on

Pinus and Eucalyptus plantations throughout the continent and the emergence of novel insect outbreaks in tropical and temperate native forests associated with global warming It is a valuable guide for researchers and practitioners working on forest health in Latin America and around the world Industrial Agroforestry Perspectives and Prospectives K.T. Parthiban,R. Umarani,S.U. Kanna,I. Sekar,P. Rajendran,P. Durairasu,2014-06-01 The Forests are playing a significant role in the economic prosperity and ecological stability of the country The Indian Forests faces severe biotic and abiotic pressure leads to shrinking of its geographical distribution and the forest based industries are at the cross roads This book incorporated the India s Forest and Agroforestry situation and the need for industrial wood plantations It also comprises the status of various wood based industries like pulp and paper plywood matchwood dendro power biofuel and the requirement for different raw materials and the associated supply chain management Insects and Diseases of Mediterranean Forest Systems Timothy D. Paine,Francois Lieutier,2016-01-06 Insect and disease issues are often specific to the Mediterranean forest systems rather than shared with the temperate forests In addition to the specific native insects and diseases the forests are subject to the invasion of exotic species The forests are also at risk from high degrees of human activity including changing patterns of forest fires land management activities intensive plantation forestry using introduced timber species from other Mediterranean climate zones and atmospheric deposition Combined with elements of global climate change that may disproportionately affect Mediterranean climate systems this creates a number of significant management issues that are unique to the Mediterranean forests It is our goal that the information contained in this volume will contribute to understanding the unique aspects of Mediterranean forest systems and to protecting these critical resources
