Truth Denial And Transition Northern Ireland And The Contested Past Transitional Justice:

Truth, Denial and Transition Cheryl Lawther, 2018-10-08 Truth Denial and Transition Northern Ireland and the Contested Past makes a unique and timely contribution to the transitional justice field In contrast to the focus on truth and those societies where truth recovery has been central to dealing with the aftermath of human rights violations comparatively little scholarly attention has been paid to those jurisdictions whose transition from violent conflict has been marked by the absence or rejection of a formal truth process This book draws upon the case study of Northern Ireland where despite a lengthy debate the question of establishing a formal truth recovery process remains hotly contested The strongest and most vocal opposition has been from unionist political elites loyalist ex combatants and members of the security forces Based on empirical research their opposition is unpicked and interrogated at length throughout this book Critically exploring notions of national imagination and blamelessness the politics of victimhood and the tension between traditions of sacrifice and the fear of betrayal this book is the first substantive effort to concentrate on the opponents of truth recovery rather than its advocates This book will interest those studying truth processes and transitional justice in the fields of Law Politics and Criminology

Transitional Justice and the 'Disappeared' of Northern Ireland Lauren Dempster, 2019-06-11 This book employs a transitional justice lens to address the disappearances that occurred during the Northern Ireland conflict or Troubles and the post conflict response to these disappearances Despite an extensive literature around dealing with the past in Northern Ireland as well as a substantial body of scholarship on disappearances in other national contexts there has been little scholarly scrutiny of disappearances in post conflict Northern Ireland Although the Good Friday Agreement brought relative peace to Northern Ireland no provision was made for the establishment of some form of overarching truth and reconciliation commission aimed at comprehensively addressing the legacy of violence Nevertheless a mechanism to recover the remains of the disappeared the Independent Commission for the Location of Victims Remains ICLVR was established and has in fact proven to be quite effective As a result the reactions of key constituencies to the disappearances can be used as a prism through which to comprehensively explore issues of relevance to transitional justice scholars and practitioners Pursuing an interdisciplinary approach and based on extensive empirical research this book provides a multifaceted exploration of the responses of these constituencies to the practice of disappearing It engages with transitional justice themes including silence memory truth acknowledgement and apology Key issues examined include the mobilisation efforts of families of the disappeared efforts by a former non state armed group to address its legacy of violence the utility of a limited immunity mechanism to incentivise information provision and the interplay between silence and memory in the shaping of a collective societal understanding of the disappeared

International Criminal Law, Transnational Criminal Organizations and Transitional Justice

Héctor Olásolo, 2018-08-07 Parties negotiating the end of authoritarian regimes or armed conflicts are almost inevitably left in a situation of legal uncertainty Despite their overlapping scope of application the differences between the approaches of International Criminal Law ICL and Transitional Justice TJ are so profound that unless dogmatism is left aside and a process of dialogue is entered into it will not be possible to harmonize the current legal regime of international crimes with the need to articulate transitional processes that are capable of effectively overcoming authoritarian regimes and armed conflicts The serious material limitations shown by national international and hybrid ICL enforcement mechanisms should be acknowledged and the goals pursued by ICL should be redefined accordingly A minimum level of consensus on the scope of application goals and elements of TJ should also be reached Situations of systematic or large scale violence against the civilian population by transnational criminal organizations increase the challenge

Violence, Law and the Impossibility of Transitional Justice Catherine Turner, 2016-07-07 The field of transitional justice has expanded rapidly since the term first emerged in the late 1990s Its intellectual development has however tended to follow practice rather than drive it Addressing this gap Violence Law and the Impossibility of Transitional Justice pursues a comprehensive theoretical inquiry into the foundation and evolution of transitional justice Presenting a detailed deconstruction of the role of law in transition the book explores the reasons for resistance to transitional justice It explores the ways in which law itself is complicit in perpetuating conflict and asks whether a narrow vision of transitional justice underpinned by a strictly normative or doctrinal concept of law can undermine the promise of justice Drawing on case material as well as on perspectives from a range of disciplines including law political science anthropology and philosophy this book will be of considerable interest to those concerned with the theory and practice of transitional justice Critical Engagement Kevin Hearty, 2017 This book is an original case study of how memory has driven and challenged the Irish republican transition from armed conflict to constitutional politics that culminated in the acceptance of policing in the Northern Ireland state Post-Conflict

Hauntings Kim Wale, Pumla Gobodo-Madikizela, Jeffrey Prager, 2020-07-02 This book engages the globally pressing question of how to live and work with the haunting power of the past in the aftermath of mass violence It brings together a collection of interdisciplinary contributions to reflect on the haunting of post conflict memory from the perspective of diverse country case studies including South Africa Rwanda Zimbabwe Northern Ireland North and South Korea Palestine and Israel America and Australia Contributions offer theoretical empirical and practical insights on the nature of historical trauma and practices of collective healing and repair that include embodied artistic and culturally relevant forms of wisdom for dealing with the past While this question has traditionally been explored through the lens of trauma studies in relation to the post Holocaust experience this book provides new understandings from a variety of different historical contexts and disciplinary perspectives Its chapters draw on challenge and expand the trauma concept to propose more contextually relevant frameworks for transforming haunted memory in the aftermath of historical trauma Victims of Terrorism Orla Lynch, Javier

Argomaniz, 2014-10-17 This book examines the politicisation of victims of terrorism and the reality of the victimisation experience within the broader field of terrorism and the resulting conflict Victims of terrorism are a unique group of individuals whose experience is overlooked in the current literature on terrorism Since 9 11 terrorism has risen to global prominence and has become a key topic of interest with regards to media attention and national security As a result many European countries as well as the USA have had to take active steps to protect and provide for the victims of terrorism particularly given the nature of victimisation post 3 11 Madrid and 7 7 London Recently we have also seen an increase in the political currency of the terrorist victim for example the lobbying activities and political involvement of the victims of ETA terrorism and the exceptionally powerful lobby in the USA that sees the involvement of victims of terrorism and their families in policy making and law enforcement transformations This book is based on extensive field work in Northern Ireland London and Spain and presents the results which focus on the needs and experiences of victims of terrorism and political violence and critically analyses these findings comparatively and in their own right The aim is to assess the provision of support initiatives in Northern Ireland mainland UK and Spain and understand if victims needs are being met by these initiatives but most importantly to construct a picture of the local and international interpretation of the experience of victimisation by terrorism This book will be of much interest to students of terrorism and political violence victimology criminology security studies and IR Transforming Justice Responses to Non-Recent Institutional Abuses Anne-Marie McAlinden, Marie

Keenan, James Gallen, 2025-03-20 Over the last few decades the issue of historical non recent institutional abuses has resonated in a range of Western states and churches Despite the recent proliferation of justice responses to such abuses including prosecutions and civil litigation inquiries redress and apologies it is a subject which is insufficiently understood in the literature Set against the complexities of the legal historical cultural and political realities of addressing non recent institutional abuses Transforming Justice Responses to Non Recent Institutional Abuses critically examines these justice responses across Northern Ireland and the Republic of Ireland Bringing together the voices of victim survivors of non recent institutional abuses with legal actors academics media professionals and church and state actors on their experiences of justice processes this book reframes discourses on accountability and responsibility and considers how to improve justice processes at the level of praxis and increase engagement between victim survivors and institutional actors Drawing on interdisciplinary literature related to restorative transitional and transformative justice and analysis of primary research the book advances analysis of the role of innovative justice in this space and a new approach to justice which bridges the accountability gap between seeking and achieving justice for non recent institutional abuses while improving outcomes for victims and survivors This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4 0 International licence It is free to read on Oxford Scholarship Online and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations

Transitional Justice and the Arab Spring Kirsten Fisher, Robert Stewart, 2015-03-24 This book presents a varied and critical picture of how the Arab Spring demands a re examination and re conceptualization of issues of transitional justice It demonstrates how unique features of this wave of revolutions and popular protests that have swept the Arab world since December 2010 give rise to distinctive concerns and problems relative to transitional justice The contributors explore how these issues in turn add fresh perspective and nuance to the field more generally In so doing it explores fundamental questions of social justice reconstruction and healing in the context of the Arab Spring Including the perspectives of academics and practitioners Transitional Justice and the Arab Spring will be of considerable interest to those working on the politics of the Middle East normative political theory transitional justice international law international relations and human rights
