

THE MOST UNCOMMON FOOD ALLERGIES

Apples

If you have an apple allergy, you will start to have discomfort around 30 minutes after eating the fruit. The worst that can come from an apple allergic reaction is throat swelling, which can make breathing difficult.

Avocados

As it turns out, avocado allergies are like latex allergies due to the proteins found inside of them, which can cause a reaction.

Bananas

Certain symptoms that you should be aware of with a banana allergy include itchiness around the throat or mouth, issues breathing, swelling, and hives.

Citrus Fruits

Grapefruits, limes, and other acidic fruits can also cause itchiness in the throat or mouth and hives in addition to pale skin, wheezing, and low blood pressure.

Corn

Corn can be the cause of a serious allergic reaction and could be related to other reactions to grain, seeds, and pollen due to the nature of the food.

Hot Dogs

Hot dogs are highly processed and full of several additives such as nitrite. Because of this, an allergic reaction like headaches and hives can be caused by hot dogs.

Mangoes

A mango food allergy is very similar to an avocado allergy. Mangoes can also cause a cross-reaction with those who suffer from apple, pear, and celery allergies.

Marshmallows

The main reason why a marshmallow allergy can occur is because of the gelatin that is inside of it. Because gelatin is the main issue, you should also be wary of other foods with the protein in it, such as gummy and chewy candies along with frosted cereals.

Meats

A meat allergy can be due to a sugar in meat known as alpha-galactose or the Lone Star tick bite. If you do have a meat allergy, you can experience diarrhea, itching, vomiting, and nausea and there's a chance you will be allergic to several different types of meat if you do have it.

Sesame Seeds

A sesame seed allergy is extremely rare. If you feel that you have a sesame seed allergy, then you should be aware of the ingredients in extracts and oils to ensure that you don't suffer an allergic reaction.

Allergens: Common Protein Characteristics Featuring their Allergenicity Christiane Hilger, Annette Kuehn, 2015-07-13

Among the many molecules present in our environment some have the property to induce allergic sensitization and IgE mediated reactions The analysis of known major animal allergens has shown that most belong to single protein families lipocalins and serum albumins for inhalant allergens EF hand proteins tropomyosins and caseins for the digestive allergens The finding that allergens are often clustered in large families may be related to the fact that common structural biochemical or functional features contribute to their allergenicity in addition to external adjuvant factors Currently there is no curative treatment for animal allergy available In order to lower allergic reactions to respiratory allergens in daily life and to food allergens upon accidental exposure it is important to desensitize concerned patients Tolerance induction by allergen specific immunotherapy is in the current focus of an ambitious research This Research Topic aims to provide a comprehensive view of the basic and recent insights on the allergenicity of animal allergens in view of their structural and functional aspects as well as allergen specific immunotherapy Zitelli and Davis' Atlas of Pediatric Physical Diagnosis, E-Book Sara C.
