Anglican clergy there he discovered that baptism made no apparent difference to the morals and behaviour of his new peers He began to question his faith Correspondence with his father about the issue failed to set his mind at peace inciting instead his father's wrath As a result the young Butler emigrated in September 1859 to New Zealand He was determined to change his life He wrote of his arrival and life as a sheep farmer on Mesopotamia Station in A First Year in Canterbury Settlement 1863 After a few years he sold his farm and made a handsome profit But the chief achievement of these years were the drafts and source material for much of his masterpiece Erewhon Butler returned to England in 1864 settling in rooms in Clifford's Inn near Fleet Street where he would live for the rest of his life In 1872 he published his Utopian novel Erewhon which made him a well known figure He wrote a number of other books including a moderately successful sequel Erewhon Revisited before his masterpiece and semi autobiographical novel The Way of All Flesh appeared after his death Butler thought its tone of satirical attack on Victorian morality too contentious to publish during his life time and thereby shied away from further potential problems Samuel Butler died aged 66 on 18th June 1902 at a nursing home in St John's Wood Road London He was cremated at Woking Crematorium and accounts say his ashes were either dispersed or buried in an unmarked grave

used rather broadly and thus not always unambiguously For this reason the clarification of the range of the historical meaning of the concept of memory is a very important and urgent task This volume shows how the concept of memory has been used and appropriated in different historical circumstances and how it has changed throughout the history of philosophy In ancient philosophy memory was considered a repository of sensible and mental impressions and was complemented by recollection the process of recovering the content of past thoughts and perceptions Such an understanding of memory led to the development both of mnemotechnics and the attempts to locate memory within the structure of cognitive faculties In contemporary philosophical and historical debates memory frequently substitutes for reason by becoming a predominant capacity to which one refers when one wants to explain not only the personal identity but also a historical political or social phenomenon In contemporary interpretation it is memory and not reason that acts in and through human actions and history which is a critical reaction to the overly rationalized and simplified concept of reason in the Enlightenment Moreover in modernity memory has taken on one of the most distinctive features of reason it is thought of as capable not only of recollecting past events and meanings but also itself In this respect the volume can be also taken as a reflective philosophical attempt by memory to recall itself its functioning and transformations throughout its own history
