William John Shearer

Uncultural Behavior Uncultural Behavior:

A Forest of Dreams Noah Theriault, 2025-09-30 After the fall of the Marcos regime in 1986 the Philippines became the first country in Asia to codify Indigenous rights This hard fought reform aimed to protect the ancestral lands of the archipelago's remaining Indigenous communities Since then these communities have become increasingly embroiled in resource politics and many have found that claiming their rights does as much to facilitate their dispossession as to prevent it In A Forest of Dreams Noah Theriault examines the entanglement of capitalism conservation and indigeneity in southern Palawan a place widely coveted as the Philippines last frontier Drawing on a decade of research Theriault reveals how bureaucrats investors and conservationists impose their own designs on Indigenous rights as they vie for land labor and legitimacy But he also asks how those designs collide with the dreams both figurative and literal of Indigenous persons themselves What results is a story of unexpected agency and contingency in which humans wildlife and powerful forest beings complicate prevailing theories of social and environmental change Through the experiences of a specific community A Forest of Dreams traces how Palawan families understand and influence the powerful forces that have enclosed them within an ancestral domain a protected landscape and an expanding plantation zone Each chapter opens with a memorable historical or ethnographic episode from Lapulapu's fateful battle with Magellan and the primitivist visions of Charles Lindbergh to truckloads of tree planting college students a screeching civet oneiric owl sorcery and a bitter dispute over almaciga resin Informed by Palawan analyses of their own history Theriault argues that efforts to save the last frontier have reinforced rather than disrupted long term processes of colonization and capitalist expansion Yet he also shows how studies of the environment development and human rights in Southeast Asia can better account for the critical agency of those whose lands are at stake

Uncultural Behavior Charles J-H Macdonald, 2006-10-31 Until recently the people of Kulbi Kenipaagan lived on the fringes of the modern world following traditional customs and beliefs practicing shifting agriculture and leading an outwardly peaceful existence in a remote corner of Palawan island Yet this small community basically indistinguishable in society and culture from its immediate neighbors to the north has one of the highest rates of suicide in the world Why would the comparatively happy and well off inhabitants of Kulbi fall victim to despair Uncultural Behavior investigates the mystery of self inflicted death among this nonviolent and orderly people in the Southern Philippines To make sense of such a phenomenon Charles Macdonald probes the beliefs customs and general disposition of this Palawan people exploring how they live think behave and relate to one another Early chapters examine group formation and the spatialization of social ties material culture marriage and law providing an extensive ethnographic account of the Kulbi way of life The author offers insights into the spiritual world of the community and addresses the local theory of emotions and the words that supply the vocabulary and idiom of indigenous commentaries on suicide A well documented case study of a suicide and its aftermath gives readers an idea of how Kulbi people treat suicide and their conflicting views on the subject

Following an analysis of statistical information the author presents five profiles bringing together motivations actors and circumstances He concludes by examining the perspectives of neurobiology and genetics as well as psychology sociology and history

Suicide and Agency Dr Ludek Broz, Dr Daniel Münster, 2015-12-28 Suicide and Agency offers an original and timely challenge to existing ways of understanding suicide Through the use of rich and detailed case studies the authors assembled in this volume explore how interplay of self harm suicide personhood and agency varies markedly across site Greenland Siberia India Palestine and Mexico and setting self run leprosy colony suicide bomb attack cash crop farming middle class mothering

The Evolution of Suicide C A Soper, 2018-07-23 A fascinating read Contrary to what the title might suggest this is an upbeat exploration of suicide with a positive message Jeanine Connor Therapy Today December 2018 This thought provoking volume offers a distinctly human evolutionary analysis of a distinctly human phenomenon suicide Its pain and brain model posits animal adaptations as the motivator for suicidal escape and specific human cognitive adaptations as supplying the means while also providing a plausible explanation for why only a relatively small number of humans actually take their own lives The author hypothesizes two types of anti suicide responses active and reactive mechanisms prompted by the brain as suicide deterrents Proposed as well is the intriguing prospect that mental disorders such as depression and addiction long associated with suicidality may serve as survival measures Among the topics covered Suicide as an evolutionary puzzle The protection against suicide afforded to animals and young children Suicide as a by product of pain and human cognition Why psychodynamic defenses regulate the experiencing of painful events Links between suicidality and positive psychology The anti suicide role of spiritual and religious belief In raising and considering key questions regarding this most controversial act The Evolution of Suicide will appeal to researchers across a range of behavioral science disciplines At the same time the book s implications for clinical intervention and prevention will make it useful among mental health professionals and those involved with mental health policy

Handbook of Suicide Prevention Updesh Kumar, 2025-04-14 The Handbook of Suicide Prevention covers a broad range of topics related to suicidal behaviour including its underlying causes risk factors prevention strategies and therapeutic approaches With contributions by renowned experts in the field the volume brings forth the latest research and clinical insights into suicidal behaviour It highlights evidence based practices effective in reducing suicide risk It provides a comprehensive overview of the multidimensional perspectives including biological psychological and social factors contributing to suicidal ideation and behaviour The book provides a nuanced and extensive understanding of how suicide risk and protective factors are shaped by social cultural and political contexts across the lifespan The last section of the volume highlights the need for a multifaceted approach to suicide prevention by leveraging the latest technologies and therapeutic modalities while also addressing the social and cultural factors that contribute to suicide risk Suicidal behaviour remains an intriguing phenomenon that demands addressing being among the leading causes of death worldwide The handbook is a compilation of essential resources that offers a multitude of theoretical and compassionate approaches to understanding and addressing this complex phenomenon Its practical guidance and evidence based recommendations make it an essential reference for anyone working in suicide prevention mental health and social work
