Zhang,2015-09-17 Since the beginning of the 21st century China's energy diplomacy has been expanding rapidly and the country is searching for energy resources worldwide This movement has not only improved China's energy security and international relations but also enabled the Chinese national oil companies NOCs to access new investment markets and implement development strategies The Chinese government and the NOCs need each other's support to realise their respective interests The interaction between the government and the NOCs will have a critical influence on China's energy diplomacy The Domestic Dynamics of China's Energy Diplomacy explores the long neglected domestic dynamics of China's energy diplomacy in particular the interaction of national and corporate interests It argues that the convergence of national and corporate interests is the key momentum of China's energy diplomacy It observes that the government NOC relationship has been evolving with China's economic and enterprise reform Finally it tests the empirical evidence of the domestic dynamics of China's energy diplomacy against the three mainstream international political economy theories showing their merits and shortcomings in explaining the phenomenon before providing an alternative conceptualisation of the movement

Mapping the Academic Debate Johannes

Duschka,Christoph Kleine,Monika Wohlrab-Sahr,Florian Zemmin,2024-12-16 This volume maps the international academic debate on secularity It places seminal contributions from within Western academia alongside less well known texts from various parts of the world in several cases this is the first time that they have been translated into English The volume demonstrates that the academic debate on secularity was and is a global debate with contributions from many regions The collected texts relate to each other either directly or indirectly by referring to similar arguments whether reinforcing or criticising them and thus create a discourse When speaking of global secularity we therefore do not insinuate a uniform world secularity resulting from the alleged global diffusion of Western norms ideas and concepts It is rather a web of relations that is constituted via various different references These references are not evenly distributed the development in the West is often the point of reference to which positions from other regions relate to which they connect or from which they distance themselves But the references are not completely unidirectional We also present texts from Europe that underline the multidirectionality of the process even early on Thereby the volume offers the reader the material with which to trace these global exchanges and references
