Culture and Identity Sheila Riddell, Nick Watson, 2014-06-11 Disabilities Culture and Identity is a succinct and accessible presentation of current research on disability culture and identity. It is an ideal text for students and lecturers alike studying and working in the areas of Disability Studies and Social Policy. Disabilities Culture and Identity provides a comprehensive and well structured introduction to an area of growing importance. The authors provide up to date and extensive coverage of the development of thinking on cultures of disability including those relating to people with learning difficulties, people with mental health problems and people with learning difficulties. Also covered in detail are critical areas in disability studies including Development of the social model of disability, Disability and the politics of social justice, Disability and theories of culture and media, Disability ethnicity and generation, The policy options for empowering disabled people and how the disabled are empowering themselves, The disability arts movement, Media treatment of disability. Sport, Culture and Society Grant Jarvie, 2013-06-19 It is impossible to fully understand contemporary society and culture without acknowledging the place of sport. Sport is part of our social and cultural fabric, possessing a social and commercial power that makes it a potent force in the world for good and for bad. Sport has helped to start wars and promote international reconciliation while every government around the world commits public resources to sport because of its perceived benefits. From the bleachers to the boardroom, sport matters. Now available in a fully revised and updated new edition, this exciting, comprehensive and accessible textbook introduces the study of sport culture and society. International in scope, the book explores the key social theories that shape our understanding of sport as a social phenomenon and critically examines many of the assumptions that underpin that understanding. Placing sport at the very heart of the analysis and including vibrant sporting examples throughout, the book introduces the student to every core topic and emerging area in the study of sport and society, including the history and politics of sport, sport and globalization, sport and the media, sport violence and crime, sport, the body and health, sport and the environment, alternative sports and lifestyles, sporting mega events, sport and development. Each chapter includes a wealth of useful features to assist the student, including chapter summaries, highlighted definitions of key terms, practical projects, revision questions, boxed case studies and biographies, and guides to further reading, with additional teaching and learning resources available on a companion website. Sport, Culture and Society is the most broad ranging and thoughtful introduction to the socio cultural analysis of sport currently available and sets a new agenda for the discipline. It is essential reading for all students with an interest in sport. Visit the companion website at www.routledge.com/cw/jarvie

Political Ideologies Vincent Geoghegan, 2003-09-02 This informative and widely used text is now available in a third edition. Building on the success of previous editions, it continues to provide a clear and accessible introduction to the complexities of political ideologies. The latest edition of Political Ideologies introduces and considers the future of all the most widely studied ideologies: liberalism, conservatism, socialism, democracy, nationalism, fascism, ecologism and feminism. It sets each ideology clearly within its historical and political context, includes a new final chapter that examines the impact of recent theoretical developments of ideologies and charts the challenges that they face in the twenty first century has been fully revised and up dated and provides an annotated guide for further reading Archives and Recordkeeping Caroline Brown,2013-11-23 This groundbreaking text demystifies archival and recordkeeping theory and its role in modern day practice The book s great strength is in articulating some of the core principles and issues that shape the discipline and the impact and relevance they have for the 21st century professional Using an accessible approach it outlines and explores key literature and concepts and the role they can play in practice Leading international thinkers and practitioners from the archives and records management world Jeannette Bastian Alan Bell Anne Gilliland Rachel Hardiman Eric Ketelaar Jennifer Meehan and Caroline Williams consider the concepts and ideas behind the practicalities of archives and records management to draw out their importance and relevance Key topics covered include Concepts roles and definitions of records and archives Archival appraisal Arrangement and description Ethics for archivists and records managers Archives memories and identities The impact of philosophy on archives and records management Does technological change marginalize recordkeeping theory Readership This is essential reading for students and educators in archives and recordkeeping and invaluable as a guide for practitioners who want to better understand and inform their day to day work It is also a useful guide across related disciplines in the information sciences and humanities Lyotard and the End of Grand Narratives Gary K.

Browning,2000 Lyotard s work challenges the presumption and orientation of modern political philosophy In particular he repudiates attempts to justify knowledge and society in terms of grand narratives of for example the liberation of mankind or the immanence of science He argues that the totalising perspective of these meta narratives is superseded by a post modern acceptance of difference and variety and a scepticism towards unifying meta theories Stretching the Academy National Institute of Adult Continuing Education,2000 These 12 papers support the view that the current general interest in widening participation in higher education in the United Kingdom may provide opportunities to radicalize policies and intervene strategically in institutional practices in ways that help to influence them Introduction Jane Thompson precedes Joining Invading Reconstructing Janice Malcolm which uses the author s personal experience to clarify her concerns about the contemporary practice of widening participation Beyond Rhetoric Mary Stuart highlights one methodology for participation in higher education that grew out of approaches used in third world development and philosophically linked to the ideal of a popular education Peripherality Solidarity and Mutual Learning in the Global Local Development Business Anne Ryan claims educational interventions that celebrate rather than problematize the experiences of those at the periphery are characterized by solidarity and mutual learning Common Goods Tom Steele proposes adult education has a vital role to play in new educational synthesis if a genuinely participatory mass democracy and an active toleration of cultural and sexual difference is to be achieved Concepts of Self Directed Learning in Higher Education Richard Taylor insists the role of the radical educator is to encourage and support the democratic and progressive articulation of self directed learning Social Capital Lorraine economics colonising other disciplines in terms of the processes by which the oesocial becomes the oeconomic Using Jantsch TM s evolutionary paradigm the concept of self transcendence is seen as crucial for the understanding of human beings and their social systems Incorporating recent thinking from the natural sciences the learning process can be conceived as the life and activity of all complex systems including those once conceived as organisms machines cultures or economies Without the societal embrace of scientific and technological development no collective or individual meaning can be assigned to the production of new knowledge The book seeks to recognise the point where a collective learning process becomes the heart of productivity and where the shift from the hegemony of material labour to immaterial labour becomes fundamental The author brings new understandings of art the social and technology together based on the idea that history is not a story told in separate physical social and spiritual spaces and that the most fundamental problem of today is how to find some shared meaning in a fractured world oeThe author analyses at a global level the process of the co production of scientific and social order of culture and technology of life sciences and economic and political regimes It rightly identifies the rise of the role of knowledge and the move of capital into life sciences as a new stage in the history of capitalism what we can qualify as cognitive capitalism or biocapitalism In this new era of capitalism what is being manufactured and sold are not just tangible and non tangible goods whose increasing importance as the author shows poses unsurmountable theoretical problems to the theoretical apparatus of economic science The increasing mercantilisation of the world appears at the same time as a bio power i e a set of instruments creating and controlling different forms of life forms of communication standards of socialisation education the individual and collective imaginary etc More fundamentally the encounter of life sciences and the information technology integrates and subjects the most essential mechanisms of biological and social reproduction to the logic of capital valorization To understand the complexity of these changes and the ethical and philosophical questions that the development of technology and sciences poses to the future of mankind one must break through the disciplinary barriers delineating different disciplines in social sciences and those separating social sciences from natural sciences Professor Matko Mestrovic manages to tackle this challenge not only because of his impressive and masterful knowledge of different disciplines in the social and natural sciences but he does it also owing to his capacity for theoretical elaboration that allows him to lay the foundations of a new transdisciplinary paradigm This is why his work can raise the awareness of the general public on two issues on a global and profound vision of the challenges posed by the new millennium and on the need for a radical theoretical innovation bringing into question the disciplinary certitudes in develop a social science able to better understand the movement and the ambiguity of history Carlo Vercellone Universit c de Paris 1 Panth c on Sorbonne oeMe trovi provides a unique insight into the often forgotten relation between economics on the one hand and arts and culture on the other demonstrating that these zdomains oe function as a total social facticity and not as separate entirely independent elements thereof In doing so he is dispelling the illusions about the disciplinary self containdness of individual forms of knowledge and is relying on those paradigms of contemporary scientific thought whose epistemological programs are based on close cooperation and opening up and not on the persuasion about one's own positions and dispositions Prof dr Rade Kalanj Redovni profesor na Odjelu za sociologiju Classical Utopian Theories of Education Robert Thaddeus Fisher, 1963 Jahrbuch des Simon-Dubnow-Instituts, 2004 Environmentalism in Turkey Fikret Adaman, Murat Arsel, 2005 Bringing together a mixture of theoretical discussion political analyses and illustrative case studies this volume provides the first comprehensive scholarly analysis of the tension between environmental protection and economic development in Turkey Through its dual focus on democratization and modernization this book also makes an important contribution to the literature on politics in contemporary Turkey It identifies and analyses the forces underwriting the growth of environmental social movements investigates the impacts these movements have on development and modernization and above all evaluates the role played by environmental movements in the democratization process of Turkey
