Modern Addictions* R. Scott Sullender,2013-07-05 There is a virtual epidemic of addiction in the United States both traditional addictions to drugs and alcohol but also newer addictions like sex gambling rage work and food eating Some authorities have labeled addictions the number one mental health problem in America We are spending millions of dollars annually trying to prevent understand and treat this epidemic and yet by any measure of success we are losing this war In this cultural context Dr Sullender invites us to look again at the spiritually based scheme of the Seven Deadly Sins which originated at the dawn of Western civilization He suggests that what our spiritual forebears meant by deadly is best captured in the modern concept of addiction Based on this thesis this book explores what is addictive about the sins of pride envy anger greed gluttony sloth and lust and suggests that these sins are all obsessive and as such become the mental component in the addictive cycle Each chapter concludes by offering some spiritual resources practices and insights that can help us win the battle against addiction which is ultimately won or lost on a mental or spiritual plane Thirst James B. Biddle,2005 A lucid and engaging study of the biblical theology of sin taking into account views in theology philosophy and the social sciences and offering insights for contemporary culture and ministry The haunting question of Karl Menninger Whatever Happened to Sin is given full thick answer here Sin has been flattened trivialized reduced to crime and completely misconstrued among us With shrewdness and finesse Biddle shows the thickness of sin in the Bible and the way in which sin without reductionism pertains to the deepest human reality Biddle is one Mark that impressively does not miss Walter Brueggemann Columbia Theological Seminary Biddle addresses the essential nature of sin He examines the dominant Christian understanding of sin carefully rereads key biblical texts and reveals the lexical depth of meaning in the biblical tradition Missing the Mark examines the following aspects of the subject of sin key passages and terms in the Old and New Testaments that deal with sin its consequences its effect on the community reflection on the nature of sin including original sin in classical Christian theology the relationship of the biblical theology of sin to Western juridical practice as well as philosophy psychology and the social sciences the implications of the biblical theology of sin for the life of the church and Christian ministry The sin as crime metaphor with its emphases on the juridical the individual and willful rebellion and its interests in assignment of guilt and exaction of punishment addresses certain aspects of the problem of human existence Yet although dominant in the Western popular mind it does not fully reflect the biblical witness nor provide a sufficient basis for the church's ministry in addressing human wrongdoing and its consequences nor take account of the insights of contemporary theological movements philosophies and social sciences that do not confirm its validity as a thorough description of the problem of being human Consequently the conventional understanding of sin offers the church meager tools for ministry In response Mark Biddle reveals the biblical insights often overlooked in the dominant theological tradition tests these insights against those of contemporary theology philosophy and the social sciences to confirm their accuracy and currency as descriptions of significant aspects of the human condition and shows the value of these insights into sin for ministry to the wide range of human pain and sorrow Central of course to the difficulty in framing a biblical doctrine of sin is the incongruity between the semantic fields of terms for sin in the biblical languages and in Western languages In common English usage sin refers to transgression of divine law or to the human propensity for such transgression definitions that emphasize the act apart from its consequences or the tendency as a trait of human nature and that imply willful violation of a known standard Biblical terms and usage involve a much broader spectrum of ideas the act as a wrong regardless of intention the real effects of the act loosed on the world as an abiding condition unless and until remedied shortcomings resulting from ignorance or incapacity a communal phenomenon with communal consequences etc The dominant Christian understanding of sin sees it primarily as a soteriological problem that is it pertains chiefly to what are the conditions that make salvation necessary The Bible and common experience suggest however that sin is more than a blot on one's record that as an organic continuum it influences the world including and surrounding the sinner in real and lasting ways Biddle explores the dynamics of sin as act condition and cause Its effects cannot be remedied merely by a transaction analogous to forgiving a debt Sin does damage that must as far as possible be repaired A biblical view of sin understands that sin's impact on the world reverberates throughout the sinner's environment across space and time In this sense sin becomes a cause and it creates a distorted environment that is the pre condition for other sin Careful comparison of the Bible's understanding of the complex phenomenon of human sin with reflection on common experience reveals that the Bible offers a corrective to Western Christian hyper individualism moral relativism and inadequate theological tools and rationale for ministry to the full range of wrong and wrongdoing Specifically the Bible speaks to a number of aspects of sin often largely ignored in Christian theology and ministerial praxis Counseling and Spirituality ,2006 This casebook balances personal experience with knowledge and skills to provide a basis of information about spiritual approaches to counseling and how to employ them Cases from counselors who have used spirituality in their practice demonstrate its use with a variety of approaches and specific groups The Healing Power of Spirituality: Religion J.
