literatures of contemporary India in the context of the country's diversity and heterogeneity. Chapters are devoted to particular regions and the arrangement of the work invites comparisons of literary traditions. Chapters provide extensive bibliographies of primary works thus documenting the creative achievement of numerous contemporary Indian authors. Some chapters cite secondary works as well and the volume concludes with a list of general works providing further information. An introductory essay overviews theoretical concerns, ideological and aesthetic considerations, developments in various genres and the history of publishing in regional literatures. The introduction provides a context for approaching the chapters that follow, each of which is devoted to the literature of a particular region. Each chapter begins with a concise introductory section. The body of each chapter is structured according to social and historical events, literary forms or broad descriptive or analytic trends depending on the particular subject matter. Each chapter then closes with an extensive bibliography of primary works thus documenting the rich literary tradition of the region. Some chapters also cite secondary sources as an aid to the reader. The final chapters of the book address special topics such as sub-cultural literatures or the interplay between literature and film. A list of additional sources of general information concludes the volume.

Historical Dictionary of Westerns in Literature Paul Varner, 2010-09-20. When in 1902 Owen Wister, a member of the Eastern blueblood aristocracy and friend of novelist Henry James, became a best-selling novelist with the publication of The Virginian, few readers would have guessed that a new kind of American literature was being born. While Owen Wister was enjoying his success, Edwin S. Porter in New Jersey was filming the first cinema Western, The Great Train Robbery, which would usher in a new era both of movies in general and of Western movies in particular. Both events would lead to a century of cultural fascination with stories of the old West. The Historical Dictionary of Westerns in Literature tells the story of the Western through a chronology, a bibliography, an introductory essay, and hundreds of cross-referenced dictionary entries on authors such as Owen Wister, Zane Grey, Max Brand, Clarence Mulford, Ernest Haycox, Luke Short, Dorothy Johnson, Louis L. Amour, and Cormac McCarthy.

The Literature of China in the Twentieth Century Bonnie S. McDougall, Kam Louie, 1997. This book presents illuminating information on writers, audiences, and the impact of various literary works on politics and culture, and provides a unique window on Chinese society.

Theoretical Schools and Circles in the Twentieth-Century Humanities Marina Grishakova, Silvi Salupere, 2015-04-10. Schools and circles have been a major force in twentieth-century intellectual movements. They fostered circulation of ideas within and between disciplines, thus altering the shape of intellectual inquiry. This volume offers a new perspective on theoretical schools in the humanities, both as generators of conceptual knowledge and as cultural phenomena. The structuralist, semiotic, phenomenological, and hermeneutical schools and circles have had a deep impact on various disciplines, ranging from literary studies to philosophy, historiography, and sociology. The volume focuses on a set of loosely interrelated groups with a strong literary, linguistic, and semiotic component but extends to the fields of philosophy and history the interdisciplinary conjunctions arising from a sense of conceptual kinship It includes chapters on unstudied or less studied groups such as Tel Aviv School of poetics and semiotics or the research group Poetics and Hermeneutics The volume presents a significant supplement to the standard historical accounts of literary critical and related theory in the twentieth century It enhances and complicates our understanding of the twentieth century intellectual and academic history by showing schools and circles in the state of germination dialogue controversy or decline in their respective historical and institutional settings while reaching simultaneously beyond those dense settings to the new cultural and ideological situations of the twenty first century Updating the Literary West ,1997 Western writers says Thomas J Lyon in his epilogue to Updating the Literary West have grown up with the frontier myth but now find themselves in the early stages of creating a new western myth The editors of the Literary History of the American West TCU Press 1987 hoped that the first volume would begin not conclude their exploration of the West s literary heritage Out of this hope comes Updating the Literary West a comprehensive reference anthology including essays by over one hundred scholars A selected bibliography is included with each piece In the ten years since publication of LHAW western writing has developed a significantly larger presence in the national literary stream A variety of cultural viewpoints have developed along with new tactics for literary study New authors have risen to prominence and the range of subjects has changed and widened Updating the Literary West looks at topics ranging from western classics to cowboys and Cadillacs and considers children s literature ethnicity environmental writing gender issues and other topics in which change has been rapid since publication of LHAW This volume again affirms the West s literary legitimacy status hard earned by the Western Literary Association and the lasting place of popular western writing as part of the growing and changing literary and American experience An excellent reference for a wide range of readers and an invaluable resource for scholars and libraries Selected list of contributors James Maguire Fred Erisman Susan J Rosowski Gerald Haslam Tom Pilkington A Carl Bredahl Richard Slotkin John G Cawelti Robert F Gish Ann Ronald Mick McAllister New Mexican Lives Richard W. Writers in East-West Encounter Guy Amirthanayagam, 1982-06-18 European Modernity and the Arab Mediterranean Karla Mallette, 2011-06-06 Over the past decade scholars have vigorously reconsidered the history of Orientalism and though Edward Said's hugely influential work remains a touchstone of the discussion Karla Mallette notes it can no longer be taken as the final word on Western perceptions of the Islamic East The French and British Orientalisms that Said studied in particular were shaped by the French and British colonial projects in Muslim regions nations that did not have such investments in the Middle East generated significantly different perceptions of Islamic and Arabic culture European Modernity and the Arab Mediterranean examines Orientalist philological scholarship of southern Europe produced between the mid nineteenth and mid twentieth century In Italy Spain and Malta Mallette argues a regional history of Arab occupation during the Middle Ages gave scholars a focus different from that of their northern European colleagues in studying the Arab world they were not so much looking on a distant and radically different history as seeking to reconstruct the past of their own nations She demonstrates that in specific instances Orientalists wrote their nations Arab history as the origin of modern national identity depicting Islamic thought not as exterior to European modernity but rather as formative of and central to it Joining comparative insights to the analytic strategies and historical genius of philology Mallette ranges from the complex manuscript history of the Thousand and One Nights to the invention of the Maltese language and Spanish scholarship on Dante and Islam Throughout she reveals the profound influences Arab and Islamic traditions have had on the development of modern European culture European Modernity and the Arab Mediterranean is an engaging study that sheds new light on the history of Orientalism the future of philology and the postcolonial Middle Ages
