Twice A Stranger How Mass Expulsion Forged Modern Greece And Turkey:

Twice a Stranger Bruce Clark, 2006 In the dismantling of the Ottoman Empire following World War I nearly two million citizens in Turkey and Greece were expelled from homelands The Lausanne treaty resulted in the deportation of Orthodox Christians from Turkey to Greece and of Muslims from Greece to Turkey The transfer was hailed as a solution to the problem of minorities who could not coexist Both governments saw the exchange as a chance to create societies of a single culture The opinions and feelings of those uprooted from their native soil were never solicited In an evocative book Bruce Clark draws on new archival research in Turkey and Greece as well as interviews with surviving participants to examine this unprecedented exercise in ethnic engineering He examines how the exchange was negotiated and how people on both sides came to terms with new lands and identities Politically the population exchange achieved its planners goals but the enormous human suffering left shattered legacies It colored relations between Turkey and Greece and has been invoked as a solution by advocates of ethnic separation from the Balkans to South Asia to the Middle East This thoughtful book is a timely reminder of the effects of grand policy on ordinary people and of the difficulties for modern nations in contested regions where people still identify strongly with their ethnic or religious community Twice a Stranger Bruce Clark, 2007

Urban Discourses of Crisis, Resilience, and Resistance Eric Prieto, Liam Lanigan, Anni Lappela, 2025-07-11 This volume seeks to address questions of urban crisis from an interdisciplinary perspective that foregrounds the particular roles that literature and the creative arts play in both conceptualizing and addressing the multiple challenges facing cities Noting that the successive crises of recent years from the 2008 recession to COVID 19 seem to have put an end to the triumphalist tone of much urban writing in the 1990s this book argues that the current historical moment calls for a different kind of urban discourse focused on reassessment and regrouping This edited collection features a variety of different approaches including close readings of literary works interviews essays in cultural and architectural history and sociological ethnographic and urban planning studies These chapters explore a range of challenges currently faced by cities and foreground the search for solutions arrest relations between the Aegean neighbours sank to their lowest level since the summer of 1974 when Athens and Ankara had come to the brink of war over Cyprus. However, by the end of the year the picture could not have been more different. An improbable series of events that included a regional conflict, two major disasters and the death of a senior Greek politician had led to a complete transformation in the relations between the two countries. The crowning moment of this change came in December when Greece dropped its long standing opposition to Turkish candidacy for EU membership. How did this remarkable change come about? Who should take the credit? And what did it mean for diplomatic relations in the Eastern Mediterranean? This is the story of how two countries started down a path to peace after decades of tension and hostility and how over the course of one monumental year relations between Greece and Turkey went from the brink of conflict to an unprecedented affirmation of friendship and solidarity.

Funding Religious Heritage

Anne Fornerød, 2016-03-09. This collection brings together a group of highly respected law and religion scholars to explore the funding of religious heritage in the context of state support for religions. The importance of this state support is that on the one hand it illustrates the potential tensions between secular and religious values whilst on the other it constitutes a relevant tool for investigating the question of the legitimacy of such financial support. The funding logically varies according to the national system of state religion relationships and this is reflected in the range of countries studied including Belgium, Bulgaria, Denmark, France, Italy, The Netherlands, Spain, Turkey and the United Kingdom. The book provides clarity in the assignment of funds to religious heritage as well as seeking to define the limit of what relates to the exercise of worship and what belongs to cultural policy. It is clear that the main challenge for the future lies not only in managing the dual purpose of religious monuments but also in re-using these buildings which have lost their original purpose. This collection will appeal to those interested in cultural heritage management as well as law and religion scholars. The views expressed during the execution of the RELIGARE project in whatever form and or by whatever medium are the sole responsibility of the authors. Borders and Borderlands Richard Pine, Vera Konidari, 2021-03-10. The crossing of borders and frontiers between political states and between languages and cultures continues to inhibit and bedevil the freedom of movement of both ideas and people. This book addresses the issues arising from problems of translation and communication, the understanding of identity in hyphenated cultures, the relationship between landscape and character and the multiplex topic of gender transition. Literature as a key to identity in borderland situations is explored here together with analyses of semiotics, narratives of madness and abjection. The volume also examines the contemporary refugee crisis through first hand Personal Witness accounts of migration and political, ethnic and religious divisions in Kosovo, Greece, Portugal and North America. Another section gathering together historical and current Poetry of Exile offers poets' perspectives on identity and tradition in the context of loss, alienation, fear and displacement.
