Barker, 2019-03-18 The deep divides that define politics in the United States are not restricted to policy or even cultural differences anymore Americans no longer agree on basic questions of fact Is climate change real Does racism still determine who gets ahead Is sexual orientation innate Do immigration and free trade help or hurt the economy Does gun control reduce violence Are false convictions common Employing several years of original survey data and experiments Marietta and Barker reach a number of enlightening and provocative conclusions dueling fact perceptions are not so much a product of hyper partisanship or media propaganda as they are of simple value differences and deepening distrust of authorities These duels foster social contempt even in the workplace and they warp the electorate The educated on both the right and the left carry the biggest guns and are the quickest to draw And finally fact checking and other proposed remedies don t seem to holster too many weapons they can even add bullets to the chamber Marietta and Barker s pessimistic conclusions will challenge idealistic reformers

No Armor for the Back Keith E. Durso,2007 English and American Baptists of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries lived in two worlds In one world established churches were the norm and persecution was the means by which such churches and the civil governments dealt with religious dissenters Yet these Baptists also lived in another world in which God s kingdom ruled and the sword of the Spirit the Bible not the sword of Caesar settled religious disputes When their two worlds collided and they often did many Baptists chose to go to prison rather than to violate their consciences by worshipping in churches that they abhorred by listening to ministers whom they did not choose and by submitting their spiritual lives to earthly magistrates Early Baptists knew that they could avoid prison and other hardships if they yielded to the pressures of political and ecclesiastical authorities to conform Many Baptists considered such yielding as a retreat from their cause and their God believing that retreat would have been spiritually fatal They chose instead to move forward in their faith although it might cost them dearly Thus rather than retreat these courageous Baptists advanced some to prison and then back to freedom others to jail and then to the grave All however did so because like Thomas Hardcastle they knew that There is no armor for the back Baptists who graced numerous prisons and jails in England and in the American colonies did not remain silent however for they continued to preach and to write letters poems and books These Baptists stated their cases without any self pity and interpreted their persecutions as the natural consequences of professing their faith in Christ
