Untamed The Wildest Woman In America And The Fight For Cumberland Island:

Untamed Will Harlan, 2014-05-06 The inspiring biography of the adventuresome naturalist Carol Ruckdeschel and her crusade to save her island home from environmental disaster In a moving homage that artfully articulates the ferocities of nature and humanity biographer Will Harlan captures the larger than life story of biologist naturalist and ecological activist Carol Ruckdeschel known to many as the wildest woman in America She wrestles alligators eats roadkill rides horses bareback and lives in a ramshackle cabin that she built by hand in an island wilderness A combination of Henry David Thoreau and Jane Goodall Carol is a self taught scientist who has become a tireless defender of sea turtles on Cumberland Island a national park off the coast of Georgia Kirkus Reviews Cumberland the country s largest and most biologically diverse barrier island is celebrated for its windswept dunes and feral horses Steel magnate Thomas Carnegie once owned much of the island and in recent years Carnegie heirs and the National Park Service have clashed with Carol over the island s future What happens when a dirt poor naturalist with only a high school diploma becomes an outspoken advocate on a celebrated but divisive island Untamed is the story of an American original who fights for what she believes in no matter the cost an environmental classic that belongs on the shelf alongside Carson Leopold Muir and Thoreau Thomas Rain Crowe author of Zoro s Field My Life in the Appalachian Woods Vivid Ms Ruckdeschel s biography and the way this wandering soul came to settle for so many decades on Cumberland Island is big enough on its own but Mr Harlan hints at bigger questions The Wall Street Journal Wild country produces wild people who sometimes are just what s needed to keep that wild cycle going This is a memorable portrait Bill McKibben author of The End of Nature Deliciously engrossing Readers are in for a wild ride The Citizen Times

Sudden Spring Rick Van Noy, 2019-01-15 The results of climate change make the headlines almost daily All across America and the globe communities have to adapt to rising sea levels intensified storms and warmer temperatures One way or another climate change will be a proving ground We will either sink in cases where the land is subsiding or swim finding ways to address these challenges While temperatures and seas are rising slowly we have some immediate choices to make If we act quickly and boldly there is a small window of opportunity to prevent the worst We can prepare for the changes by understanding what is happening and taking specific measures There is commitment already in the climate change system To minimize those effects will require another kind of commitment the kind Rick Van Noy illustrates in these stories about a climate distressed South Like Rachel Carson s groundbreaking work Silent Spring Rick Van Noy s Sudden Spring is a call to action to mitigate the current trends in our environmental degradation By highlighting stories of people and places adapting to the impacts of a warmer climate Van Noy shows us what communities in the South are doing to become more climate resilient and to survive a slow deluge of environmental challenges

Islomanes of Cumberland Island Rita Welty Bourke, 2023-04-04 Lucy Carnegie wife of industrialist Thomas Carnegie dreamed of creating on Cumberland Island a home where her children would be safe from the smoke and soot filled skies over Pittsburgh Protected by the waters of the Cumberland Sound the estate she built encompassed nearly the entire island It was a perfect world until the outside world intruded Stone by stone it all came tumbling down Wild horses now crop the grass around the burnt out mansion Rattlesnakes nest among the ruins A century later another family comes to Cumberland to walk among the horses and to accept what gifts the island has to offer solitude unspoiled wilderness and wildlife free to roam undisturbed Returning year after year Rhamy and her parents explore the island and swim in the ocean They picnic on the beach where servants once served champagne shrimp cocktails and crab cakes to the Carnegie family and their guests They gaze at the chimneys surrounding Stafford house all that remain of slave quarters that once housed plantation field hands They mourn for Zabette daughter of a plantation owner and his black servant sold to a man who fathered her six children then abandoned her Always everywhere on the island the horses graze nearby unaware of efforts by environmentalists to remove them from the island where they have lived for centuries Traveling to the north end of the island the family sits for a quiet moment in the church where JFK Jr married Carolyn Bessette Across the pasture is the shack where naturalist Carol Ruckdeschel has lived for fifty years and the porch where her lover lay dead shot through the heart In the campgrounds on the beach at the Dungeness dock wild horses graze For now they are safe , Love Your Mother Mallory McDuff,2023 From elder voices opposing the Dakota Pipeline to young people running for office to advocate for change women are making a collective difference on climate justice These compelling stories of leaders from diverse backgrounds and vocations from each of the fifty US states offer inspiration for all hoping to effect change in the climate movement The Untamed Max Brand,2017-10-17 Carol Ruckdeschel is the wildest woman in America She eats road kill wrestles alligators rides horses bareback and lives in a ramshackle cabin that she built herself in an island wilderness She s had three husbands and many lovers one of whom she shot and killed in self defense A combination of Henry David Thoreau and Jane Goodall Carol is a self taught scientist who has become a tireless defender of sea turtles on Cumberland Island a national park off the coast of Georgia Cumberland is the country s largest and most biologically diverse barrier island over forty square miles of pristine wilderness celebrated for its windswept dunes and feral horses Steel magnate Thomas Carnegie owned much of Cumberland and his widow Lucy made it a Gilded Age playground But in recent years Carnegie heirs and the National Park Service have clashed with Carol over the island s future What happens when a dirt poor naturalist with only a high school diploma tries to stop one of the wealthiest families in America
