De Maio, 2021-09-07 Across the United States Black people have shorter life expectancies than white people reflecting structural racism and deep rooted drivers of population health But are some cities more equal than others The elimination of racial and ethnic inequities differences that are avoidable unnecessary and unfair has been one of the overarching health related goals of the United States for decades Yet dramatic differences in health outcomes between Black people and white people persist rooted in structural and social determinants of health Nationally a Black baby can expect to live four years less than a white baby But mortality outcomes and inequities vary widely across cities In Washington DC for example the average life expectancy for Blacks is twelve years less than that of whites But in other cities mortality differences between races are less striking or nonexistent If health equity can be achieved in some cities why not all This is arguably the most important health equity issue of our time In Unequal Cities Maureen R Benjamins and Fernando G De Maio gather a team of experts to explore these racial inequities as well as the ten year gap in life expectancy between our healthiest and unhealthiest big cities Rigorous analyses give readers access to previously unavailable data on life expectancy mortality from leading causes of death and related Black white inequities for the country's 30 biggest cities The theoretically grounded essays also explore how characteristics of cities including their levels of income inequality and racial segregation impact overall health and Black white inequities The first book to specifically examine racial health inequities within and across US cities Unequal Cities offers a social justice framework for addressing the newly identified inequities as well as specific case studies to help public health advocates civic leaders and other stakeholders envision the steps needed to improve their cities current health outcomes and achieve racial equity A powerful call to action for health equity advocates and city leaders alike this book is essential reading Contributors David Ansell Darlene Oliver Hightower Jana Hirschtick Sharon Homan Ayesha Jaco Emily LaFlamme Brittney S Lange Maia Kristin Monnard Nikhil G Prachand Pamela T Roesch Michael Rozier Nazia Saiyed Eve Shapiro Abigail Silva Veenu Verma the West Side United Metrics Working Group Ruqaiyah Yearby
