

Deadline

Listen for numbers sent in from the B* master NXT, adding them up and sending back a message telling the B* master NXT (using "Deadline") if the total is over or under a set limit. "Deadline" is acting as server as software processing unit here.

Note that while the B* slave NXT is receiving messages over connection #0 (not specified in the B* Receive Message block, as "all" received B* messages always come in over this connection), it is also sending messages back to the B* master NXT over connection #0. This means that if multiple slave NXT's are talking back to the one master NXT, all their slave messages will come in to the same connection #0.

REMEMBER: A slave NXT can "only" send messages out over connection #0, back to the B* master NXT. It also receives B* messages, only from the master NXT, over connection #0 (even though the manually configured connection was created as "connection #1" or something similar from the B* Hub's). There isn't message class!

Be one of two things: if the limit was exceeded (the Compare block was set a "true", selecting the upper branch of the switch), then send the B* text message "over limit" back to the B* master NXT, and reset the running "total" to zero. If the limit has not been exceeded, send the text message "not over" back to the B* master NXT.
