The background of the book cover features a stylized, colorful illustration of a city skyline at night. The sky is dark blue with white stars and a large, stylized eye with a black pupil and red iris. The city buildings are in shades of blue and yellow. In the foreground, there are silhouettes of people walking on a sidewalk, green trees, and a red bridge with the word 'FERRY' written on it. Below the bridge, there are several cars in various colors (green, blue, purple, red) driving on a road. The overall style is modern and artistic.

The Oxford Handbook of Urban Economics and Planning Nancy Brooks, Kieran Donaghy, Gerrit-Jan Knaap, 2011-02-01 This volume embodies a problem driven and theoretically informed approach to bridging frontier research in urban economics and urban regional planning The authors focus on the interface between these two subdisciplines that have historically had an uneasy relationship Although economists were among the early contributors to the literature on urban planning many economists have been dismissive of a discipline whose leading scholars frequently favor regulations over market institutions equity over efficiency and normative prescriptions over positive analysis Planners meanwhile even as they draw upon economic principles often view the work of economists as abstract not sensitive to institutional contexts and communicated in a formal language spoken by few with decision making authority Not surprisingly papers in the leading economic journals rarely cite clearly pertinent papers in planning journals and vice versa Despite the historical divergence in perspectives and methods urban economics and urban planning share an intense interest in many topic areas the nature of cities the prosperity of urban economies the provision of urban services efficient systems of transportation and the proper allocation of land between urban and environmental uses In bridging this gap this book highlights the best scholarship in planning and economics that addresses the most pressing urban problems of our day and will stimulate further dialog between scholars in urban planning and urban economics
