Thresholds Of Listening Sound Technics Space:

Thresholds of Listening Sander van Maas, 2016 This title addresses recent and historical changes in the ways listening has been conceived Listening having been emancipated from the passive subjected position of reception has come to be asserted as an active force in culture and in collective and individual politics The chapters here show that the exteriorisation of listening brought into relief by recent historical studies of technologies of listening involves a renegotiation of the theoretical and pragmatic distinctions that underpin the notion of listening

Remapping Sound Studies Gavin Steingo, Jim Sykes, 2019-03-14 The contributors to Remapping Sound Studies intervene in current trends and practices in sound studies by reorienting the field toward the global South Attending to disparate aspects of sound in Africa South and Southeast Asia Latin America the Middle East Micronesia and a Southern outpost in the global North this volume broadens the scope of sound studies and challenges some of the field's central presuppositions The contributors show how approaches to and uses of technology across the global South complicate narratives of technological modernity and how sound making and listening in diverse global settings unsettle familiar binaries of sacred secular private public human nonhuman male female and nature culture Exploring a wide range of sonic phenomena and practices from birdsong in the Marshall Islands to Zulu ululation the contributors offer diverse ways to remap and decolonize modes of thinking about and listening to sound Contributors Tripta Chandola Michele Friedner Louise Meintjes Jairo Moreno Ana Mar a Ochoa Gautier Michael Birenbaum Quintero Jeff Roy Jessica Schwartz Shayna Silverstein Gavin Steingo Jim Sykes Benjamin Tausig Herv Tchumkam

Sound Authorities Edward J. Gillin, 2022-02-11 Sound Authorities shows how experiences of music and sound played a crucial role in nineteenth century scientific inquiry in Britain In Sound Authorities Edward J Gillin focuses on hearing and aurality in Victorian Britain claiming that the development of the natural sciences in this era cannot be understood without attending to the study of sound and music During this time scientific practitioners attempted to fashion themselves as authorities on sonorous phenomena coming into conflict with traditional musical elites as well as religious bodies Gillin pays attention to sound in both musical and nonmusical contexts specifically the cacophony of British industrialization Sound Authorities begins with the place of acoustics in early nineteenth century London examining scientific exhibitions lectures spectacles workshops laboratories and showrooms He goes on to explore how mathematicians mobilized sound in their understanding of natural laws and their vision of a harmonious ordered universe In closing Gillin delves into the era's religious and metaphysical debates over the place of music and humanity in nature the relationship between music and the divine and the tensions between spiritualist understandings of sound and scientific ones

Music, Time, and Its Other Roger Savage, 2017-09-13 Music Time and Its Other explores the relation between the enigmatic character of our temporal experiences and music's affective power By taking account of competing concepts of time Savage explains how music refigures dimensions of our experiences through staking out the borderlines between time and eternity He examines a range of musical expressions that reply to the deficiency born from the difference between time and an order that exceeds or surpasses it and reveals how affective tonalities of works by Bach Carolan Debussy Schoenberg Messiaen and Glass augment our understanding of our temporal condition Reflections on the moods and feelings to which music gives voice counterpoint philosophical investigations into the relation between music s power to affect us and the force that the present has with respect to the initiatives we take Music Time and Its Other thus sets out a new approach to music aesthetics politics and the critical roles of judgment and imagination
