Writing Prompts

1. If you found a treasure on the beach, what would you most likely to discover?
2. Imagine you wake up tomorrow in a different country with a new family..What happens next?
3. If you can create your own game, what would it be? Are there any rules for the game?
4. If you can have one wish to turn older, how old would you want to be? Why
5. Imagine being invisible for one day. What did you do that day?
6. If you can go anywhere in the world, where would you? Who would you travel with?
7. If you can end one problem in the world, what would you end?
8. Imagine if all humans turn into robots, what do you think the world would look like?
9. Write about your dream holiday
10. What do you think independence mean?

MacArthur, Michael A. Hebert, Michael Hebert, 2018-12-27 Well established as a definitive text and now revised and updated with eight new chapters this book translates cutting edge research into effective guidelines for teaching writing in grades K 12 Illustrated with vivid classroom examples the book identifies the components of a complete high quality writing program Leading experts provide strategies for teaching narrative and argumentative writing using digital tools helping students improve specific skills from handwriting and spelling to sentence construction teaching evaluation and revision connecting reading and writing instruction teaching vulnerable populations using assessment to inform instruction and more New to This Edition Chapters on new topics setting up the writing classroom and writing from informational source material New chapters on core topics narrative writing handwriting and spelling planning assessment special needs learners and English learners Increased attention to reading writing connections and using digital tools Incorporates the latest research and instructional procedures See also Handbook of Writing Research Second Edition edited by Charles A MacArthur Steve Graham and Jill Fitzgerald which provides a comprehensive overview of writing research that informs good practice Time to Write, Second Edition John Sylvester Lofty, 2015-02-10 To read John s work is to take on the role of a patient listener A book like a piece of music is scored for time and I feel Time to Write is scored adagio I believe that Time to Write can be read as a critique of the time chopping approach to education and an argument for presence for being fully open to experience for being there To do good work we must enter something like island time or what John calls existential time or what is sometimes called flow when we lose at least temporarily a sense of clock time from the Foreword by Thomas Newkirk Twenty five years ago John Sylvester Lofty studied the influence of cultural time values on students resistance to writing instruction in an isolated Maine fishing community For the new edition of Time to Write Lofty returned to the island to consider how social and educational developments in the intervening years may have affected both local culture and attitudes toward education Lofty discovered how the island time values that previously informed students literacy learning have been transformed by outside influences including technology social media and the influx of new residents from urban areas Building on the ethnographic findings of the original study the new edition analyzes the current conflict between the digital age time values of constant connections and instant communication and those of school based literacy Lofty examines the new literacies now essential for students in a technologically connected world both those who aspire to continue the traditional island work of lobster fishing and for the many who now choose to pursue other careers and attend college on the mainland
