Transnational Television In Europe Reconfiguring Global Communications Networks:

Transnational Television in Europe Jean K. Chalaby, Today transnational TV networks count among television's most prestigious brands and rank among Europe's leading TV channels. This is the first dynamically told story of the extraordinary journey of transnational television in Europe from struggling origins to its present day boom. It is based in extensive research into the international television industry and makes full use of its author's remarkable access to leading industry figures from Sky and Turner to Discovery and BBC World. The tale begins with a few cross border TV channels who fought hostile governments, faced antagonism from the broadcasting establishment and provoked the contempt of advertisers. But Jean Chalaby argues the planets came into alignment for pan European television in the late 1990s when a transnational shift in European broadcasting was produced. He shows how transnational television and globalization have transformed one another and how transfrontier TV networks reflect and help sustain a global economic order in which the connection between national territory and patterns of production and distribution have broken down.

Jean K. Chalaby, 2009-02-19 Today transnational TV networks count among television's most prestigious brands and rank among Europe's leading TV channels. This is the first dynamically told story of the extraordinary journey of transnational television in Europe from struggling origins to its present day boom. It is based in extensive research into the international television industry and makes full use of its author's remarkable access to leading industry figures from Sky and Turner to Discovery and BBC World. The tale begins with a few cross border TV channels who fought hostile governments, faced antagonism from the broadcasting establishment and provoked the contempt of advertisers. But Jean Chalaby argues the planets came into alignment for pan European television in the late 1990s when a transnational shift in European broadcasting was produced. He shows how transnational television and globalization have transformed one another and how transfrontier TV networks reflect and help sustain a global economic order in which the connection between national territory and patterns of production and distribution have broken down.

Transnational Television History Andreas Fickers, Catherine Johnson, 2013-09-13 Although television has developed into a major agent of the transnational and global flow of information and entertainment, television historiography and scholarship largely remains a national endeavour, partly due to the fact that television has been understood as a tool for the creation of national identity. But the breaking of the quasi monopoly of public service broadcasters all over Europe in the 1980s has changed the television landscape and cross border television channels with the help of satellite and the Internet have catapulted the relatively closed television nations into the universe of globalized media channels. At least this is the picture painted by the popular meta narratives of European television history. Transnational Television History asks us to re-evaluate the function of television as a medium of nation building in its formative years and to reassess the historical narrative that insists that European television only became transnational with the emergence of more commercial services and new technologies from the 1980s. It also questions some common assumptions in television historiography by offering some alternative perspectives on the complex processes of transnational circulation of television technology professionals programmes and aesthetics This book was originally published as a special issue of Media History Transnational European Television Drama Ib Bondebjerg, Eva Novrup Redvall, Rasmus Helles, Signe Sophus Lai, Henrik Søndergaard, Cecilie Astrupgaard, 2017-11-09 This book deals with the role of television drama in Europe as enabler of transnational cultural encounters for audiences and the creative community It demonstrates that the diversity of national cultures is a challenge for European TV drama but also a potential richness and source of creative variation Based on data on the production distribution and reception of recent TV drama from several European countries the book presents a new picture of the transnational European television culture The authors analyse main tendencies in television policy and challenges for national broadcasters coming from new global streaming services Comparing cases of historical contemporary and crime drama from several countries this study shows the importance of creative co production and transnational mediated cultural encounters between national cultures of Europe Private Television in Western Europe K. Donders, C. Pauwels, J. Loisen, 2016-01-23 Private Television in Western Europe Content Markets Policies describes analyses and evaluates the phenomenon of private television in Europe clustered around the themes of European and national experiences content and markets and policies Netflix and the Re-invention of Television Mareike Jenner, 2018-07-24 This book deals with the various ways Netflix reconceptualises television as part of the process of TV IV As television continues to undergo a myriad of significant changes Netflix has proven itself to be the dominant force in this development simultaneously driving a number of these changes and challenging television s existing institutional structures This comprehensive study explores the pre history of Netflix the role of binge watching in its organisation and marketing and Netflix s position as a transnational broadcaster It also examines different concepts of control and the role these play in the history of ancillary technologies from the remote control to binge watching as Netflix s iteration of giving control to the viewers By focusing on Netflix s relationship with the linear television schedule its negotiations of quality and marketing as well as the way Netflix integrates into national media systems Netflix and the Re invention of Television illuminates the importance of Netflix s role within the processes of TV IV Handbook of Media Management and Economics Alan Albarran, Bozena Mierzejewska, Jaemin Jung, 2018-04-27 Winner of the 2019 Robert Picard Book Award The Handbook of Media Management and Economics has become a required reference for students professors policy makers and industry practitioners The volume was developed around two primary objectives assessing the state of knowledge for the key topics in the media management and economics fields and establishing the research agenda in these areas ultimately pushing the field in new directions The Handbook s chapters are organized into parts addressing the theoretical components key issues analytical tools and future directions for research With its unparalleled breadth of content from expert authors the Handbook provides background knowledge of the various theoretical dimensions and historical
