Inventing Stanley Park Sean Kheraj, 2013-05-15 In early December 2006 a powerful windstorm ripped through Vancouver s Stanley Park The storm transformed the city s most treasured landmark into a tangle of splintered trees and shattered a decades old vision of the park as timeless virgin wilderness In Inventing Stanley Park Sean Kheraj traces how the tension between popular expectations of idealized nature and the volatility of complex ecosystems helped transform the landscape of one of the world s most famous urban parks This beautifully illustrated book not only depicts the natural and cultural forces that shaped the park s landscape it also examines the roots of our complex relationship with nature The factory in a garden Helena Chance, 2017-02-28 When we think about Victorian factories Dark Satanic Mills might spring to mind images of blackened buildings and exhausted exploited workers struggling in unhealthy and ungodly conditions But for some employees this image was far from the truth and this is the subject of The Factory in a Garden which traces the history of a factory gardens movement from its late eighteenth century beginnings in Britain to its twenty first century equivalent in Google s vegetable gardens at their headquarters in California The book is the first study of its kind examining the development of parks gardens and outdoor leisure facilities for factories in Britain and America as a model for the reshaping of the corporate environment in the twenty first century This is also the first book to give a comprehensive account of the contribution of gardens gardening and recreation to the history of responsible capitalism and ethical working practices

Hertfordshire Garden History Volume 2 Deborah Spring, 2012 This second volume of Hertfordshire garden history considers how Hertfordshire s historic parks and gardens have been influenced by and reflect the social and economic history of their time Beginning with the hunting parks and Renaissance gardens of the Bacons Cecils and Capels in the 16th and 17th centuries and their gradual replacement by designed landscapethis book shows how in Hertfordshire individuals have long sought greater space and comfort within easy reach of the capital London With examples from both well known and less visible or vanished gardens from the past 500 years it is sure to delight garden enthusiasts England's Magnificent Gardens Roderick Floud, 2021-06-15 An altogether different kind of book on English gardens the first of its kind a look at the history of England's magnificent gardens as a history of Britain itself from the seventeenth century gardens of Charles II to those of Prince Charles today In this rich revelatory history Sir Roderick Floud one of Britain's preeminent economic historians writes that gardens have been created in Britain since Roman times but that their true growth began in the seventeenth century by the eighteenth century nurseries in London took up 100 acres with ten million plants that were worth more than all of the nurseries in France combined Floud's book takes us through more than three centuries of English history as he writes of the kings queens and princes whose garden obsessions changed the landscape of England itself from Stuart Georgian and Victorian England to today's Windsors Here are William and Mary who brought Dutch gardens and bulbs to Britain William who twice had his entire garden lowered in order to see the river from his apartments and his successor Queen Anne who like many others since vowed to spend little on her gardens and instead spent millions Floud also writes of Frederick Prince of Wales the founder of Kew Gardens who spent more than 40 000 on a single twenty five foot tulip tree for Carlton House Queen Victoria who built the largest most advanced and most efficient kitchen garden in Britain and Prince Charles who created and designed the gardens of Highgrove inspired by his boyhood memories of his grandmother's gardens We see Sarah Duchess of Marlborough who created a magnificent garden at Blenheim Palace only to tear it apart and build a greater one Deborah Duchess of Devonshire the savior of Chatsworth's 100 acre garden in the midst of its 35 000 acres and the gardens of lesser mortals among them Gertrude Jekyll and Vita Sackville West both notable garden designers and writers We see the designers of royal estates among them Henry Wise William Kent Humphrey Repton and the greatest of all English gardeners Capability Brown who created the 150 acre lake of Blenheim Palace earned millions annually and designed more than 170 parks many still in existence today We learn how gardening became a major catalyst for innovation central heating came from experiments to heat greenhouses with hot water pipes how the new iron industry of industrializing Britain supplied a myriad of tools mowers pumps and the boilers that heated the greenhouses and finally Floud explores how gardening became an enormous industry as well as an art form in Britain and by the nineteenth century was unrivaled anywhere in the world Landscape Architecture: A Very Short Introduction Ian Thompson, 2014-05-29

Landscape architecture plays an important role in shaping the places in which we live and work But what is it Landscape architects are involved amongst other things in the layout of business parks the reclamation of derelict industrial sites the restoration of historic city parks and the siting and design of major pieces of infrastructure such as motorways dams power stations and flood defences as well as the planning of parks and gardens Taking a historical perspective Ian Thompson looks at both the roots of landscape architecture and the people that established it This Very Short Introduction explores some of the misconceptions about landscape architecture and considers the discipline's origins in landscape gardening Thompson takes a look at a number of areas including the influence of Modernism the difference between landscape design and landscape planning and the way that planning legislation has driven the growth of the discipline He also explores contemporary environmentalism the debate as to whether landscape architecture is an art or a science landscape architecture in the community post industrial projects and its relationship with ecological urbanism
