Transcritique On Kant And Marx:

Transcritique Kojin Karatani, 2005-01-14 Kojin Karatani's Transcritique introduces a startlingly new dimension to Immanuel Kant's transcendental critique by using Kant to read Karl Marx and Marx to read Kant. In a direct challenge to standard academic approaches to both thinkers, Karatani's transcritical readings discover the ethical roots of socialism in Kant's Critique of Pure Reason and a Kantian critique of money in Marx's Capital. Karatani reads Kant as a philosopher who sought to wrest metaphysics from the discredited realm of theoretical dogma in order to restore it to its proper place in the sphere of ethics and praxis. With this as his own critical model, he then presents a reading of Marx that attempts to liberate Marxism from longstanding Marxist and socialist presuppositions in order to locate a solid theoretical basis for a positive activism capable of gradually superseding the trinity of Capital, Nation, State.

Architecture or Revolution Nadir Lahiji, 2020-09-22 By linking building theory to the emancipatory project of critique advanced by radical thinkers in our time, this work investigates the key conceptual and historical elements that culminate in an emancipatory theory of building entitled Toward a philosophy of shelter. Taking Marx as its only resource, this work proceeds with the conviction that our era is contemporaneous to Marx's historical era. This means not judging the validity of Marx from the perspective of the historical situation but rather demonstrating the validity of a Marxian perspective for a singular historical situation as ours. This work will therefore translate this perspective into seeing the situation of architecture through the eyes of Marx. All those concerned with the predicament in our current condition in which architecture must play a major social role in upholding the universal value of what Alain Badiou calls generic humanity will take an interest in this work. In particular, architects, critics, scholars, and students inside the field of architecture who would be seeking the application of this universal value to a new theory of building will be a welcoming audience for this work.

Red Kant: Aesthetics, Marxism and the Third Critique Michael Wayne, 2014-09-25 Is Kant really the bourgeois philosopher that his advocates and opponents take him to be? In this bold and original rethinking of Kant, Michael Wayne argues that with his aesthetic turn in the Third Critique, Kant broke significantly from the problematic philosophical structure of the Critique of Pure Reason. Through his philosophy of the aesthetic, Kant begins to circumnavigate the dualities in his thought. In so doing, he shows us today how the aesthetic is a powerful means for imagining our way past the apparent universality of contemporary capitalism. Here is an unfamiliar Kant: his concepts of beauty and the sublime are reinterpreted as attempts to socialise the aesthetic while Wayne reconstructs the usually hidden genealogy between Kant and important Marxist concepts such as totality, dialectics, mediation, and even production. In materialising Kant's philosophy, this book simultaneously offers a Marxist defence of creativity and imagination grounded in our power to think metaphorically and in Kant's concept of reflective judgment. Wayne also critiques aspects of Marxist cultural theory that have not accorded the aesthetic the relative autonomy and specificity which it is due. Discussing such thinkers as Adorno, Bourdieu, Colletti, Eagleton, Lukács, Rancière, and others, Red Kant: Aesthetics, Marxism and the Third

Critique presents a new reading of Kant's Third Critique that challenges Marxist and mainstream assessments of Kant alike

Kōjin Karatani's Philosophy of Architecture Nadir Lahiji, 2024-02-06 In this book Nadir Lahiji introduces Kōjin Karatani's theoretical philosophical project and demonstrates its affinity with Kant's critical philosophy founded on architectonic reason. From the ancient Greeks we have inherited a definition of the word philosophy as Sophia, wisdom. But in his book Architecture as Metaphor, Kōjin Karatani introduces a different definition of philosophy. Here Karatani critically defines philosophy not in association with Sophia but in relation to foundation as the Will to Architecture. In this novel definition resides the notion that in Western thought a crisis persistently reveals itself with every attempt to build a system of knowledge on solid ground. This book reveals the implications of this extraordinary exposition. This is the first book to uncover Kōjin Karatani's highly significant ideas on architecture for both philosophical and architectural audiences

Architecture, Philosophy, and the Pedagogy of Cinema Nadir Lahiji, 2021-05-26 Philosophers on the art of cinema mainly remain silent about architecture. Discussing cinema as mass art, they tend to forget that architecture before cinema was the only existing mass art. In this work, author Nadir Lahiji proposes that the philosophical understanding of the collective human sensorium in the apparatus of perception must once again find its true training ground in architecture. Building art puts the collective mass in the position of an expert critic who identifies themselves with the technical apparatus of architecture. Only then can architecture regain its status as mass art and as the book contends, only then can it resume its function as the only artform that is designed for the political pedagogy of masses, which originally belonged to it in the period of modernity before the invention of cinema

Marx's Concept of the Alternative to Capitalism Peter Hudis, 2012-07-25 This is the first book-length study of Marx's concept of the alternative to capitalism. It shows that his critique of capital flowed from a commitment to a specific vision of the kind of human relations that define a new society

Marx's Temporalities Massimiliano Tomba, 2012-11-09 The book rethinks key categories of Marx's work beyond any philosophy of history, showing how the plurality of temporal layers that are combined and come into conflict in the violently unifying historical dimension of modernity are central to Marx's thought

Marx and Singularity Luca Basso, 2012-11-23 In this work Luca Basso analyses how the development of Marx's thought from the early writings to the Grundrisse can be understood as a search for the realisation of workers' singularities

Architecture in the Age of Pornography Nadir Lahiji, 2021-09-30 Architecture and its pedagogy in the academy is dominated by the technology of image production that veils the naked power behind its operation. It conforms to the principles of cultural logic of the society of the spectacle, consistent with neoliberal capitalism. The problem with this dominant pedagogy is that it violates the fundamental ethical imperative, putting architecture in direct contradiction with the common good. In addition, it has let architecture enter the brothel of pornographic capitalism, which turns every object into an object of obscene gratification of the senses. In this book Nadir Lahiji adopts Alain Badiou's thesis from The Pornographic Age to demonstrate that contemporary architecture is in absolute complicity with the pornographic present.

The traits that Badiou identifies in this age are manifestly visible in architectural surfaces which are subordinated to the same regime of images Similarly to Badiou's political indictments of the society which has given rise to the pornographic present the book condemns the architecture that has lent its service to the same society with a license to consummate its transgression to better cater to the imperative of the regime of images Transposing the conceptual categories in Badiou's analysis to the critique of architecture's pornographic turn in contemporary society the book constructs a conceptual framework by which to demonstrate the specific manifestations of pornography in building The book is aimed at architecture students at higher graduate and post graduate levels

Nation and Aesthetics Kojin Karatani, 2017-05-17 Nation and Aesthetics is a unique attempt to examine the ambiguous nature of nationalism and nation by examining them through aesthetics In this translation by Jonathan E Abel Darwin H Tsen and Hiroki Yoshikuni Karatani grasps the modern social formation as a nexus of three different modes of exchange namely capital nation state Nation here plays the role of complementing capitalism and the state Benedict Anderson defined nation as an imagined community Through rethinking Kant Karatani suggests that imagination here is not a mere fancy but very real in the sense that it mediates state and capital Usually imagination is regarded as fancying what is not present here Kant grasped imagination as a faculty to imagine what we can understand but cannot sense that is to say a faculty to mediate reason and sensibility This observation provided the foundation to Modern aesthetics which in the course of time became an important source of nationalism In Italy Germany and Japan nationalism appeared as fascism They found in aesthetics a moment to go beyond capitalism and the state The key to go beyond nation Karatani argues lies also in the thoughts of Kant a cosmopolitan and an advocate of a world republic It is well known that the League of Nations was formed after First World War under the influence of his Perpetual Peace Karatani draws attention to the overlooked fact that around the same time Freud made a radical revision of his notion of the superego Karatani introduces article nine of Japan's postwar constitution which renounces the right to wage war as a crystallization of Kant's ideal of peace and Freud's superego By providing a unique explanation of and ways to counter current nationalistic and imperialistic tendencies Nation and Aesthetics argues that theories of Kant and Freud which are usually understood to contrast are deeply linked and suggest ways to go beyond capital nation state
