plays a crucial yet often overlooked role in our relationship with the environments we inhabit and the spaces with which we interact. By focusing on this surface as a point of encounter, Lucy Donkin positions it within a series of vertically stacked layers: the earth itself, permanent and temporary floor coverings, and the bodies of the living above ground and the dead beneath, providing new perspectives on how sacred space was defined and decorated, including the veneration of holy footprints, consecration ceremonies, and the demarcation of certain places for particular activities. Using a wide array of visual and textual sources, Standing on Holy Ground in the Middle Ages also details ways in which interaction with this surface shaped people's identities, whether as individuals, office holders, or members of religious communities. Gestures such as trampling and prostration, the repeated employment of specific locations, and burial beneath particular people or actions used the surface to express likeness and difference. From pilgrimage sites in the Holy Land to cathedrals, abbeys, and local parish churches across the Latin West, Donkin frames the ground as a shared surface, both a feature of diverse distant places and subject to a variety of uses over time, while also offering a model for understanding spatial relationships in other periods, regions, and contexts.

Sacred Scripture / Sacred Space Tobias Frese, Wilfried E. Keil, Kristina Krüger, 2019-01-14 Thirteen papers on different subjects focussing on writings and inscriptions in medieval art explore the faculty of writing to create and determine spaces and to generate the sacred by the display of holy scripture. The subjects range from book illumination over wall painting, mosaics, sculpture, and church interiors to inscriptions on portals and facades.

Sacred Medieval Objects and Their Afterlives in Scandinavia, 2024-12-16 Interconnected investigations between conservators, historians, heritage scientists, and museum professionals centre on objects that were essential to medieval Christianity in Scandinavia c. 1100–1530. Through new and diverse physical data from polychrome sculptures, shrines, winged altarpieces, and painted banners, the authors probe a range of issues and problems from original devotional functions and changing appearances to the impacts of changing liturgies, locations, and priorities. This book highlights the diversity of theoretical and practical approaches to sacred medieval religious objects and brings together new findings related to the transformations of these objects since the Reformation. Contributors are Karl Christian Alvestad, Alexandra Böhme, David Buti, Francesco Caruso, Aoife Daly, Tine Frøysaker, Elina Gertsman, Irka Hajdas, Poul Grønder Hansen, Karoline Kjesrud, Lena Liepe, Hana Lukasova, Maite Maguregui, Austin Nevin, Elena Platania, Anne Irene Riis, and Katrine S. Religion and the Early Modern British Marketplace Kristin M.S. Bezio, Scott Oldenburg, 2021-11-29 Religion and the Early Modern British Marketplace explores the complex intersection between the geographic material and ideological marketplaces through the lens of religious belief and practice. By examining the religiously motivated markets and marketplace practices in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries in England, Scotland, and Wales, the volume presents religious praxis as a driving force in the formulation and everyday workings of the social and economic markets. Within the volume, the authors address first spiritual markets and marketplaces, discussing the intersection of Puritan and Protestant Ethics with the market economy The second part addresses material marketplaces including the marriage market commercial trade markets and the post Reformation Catholic black market In the third part of the volume the chapters focus specifically on publication markets and books including manuscripts and commonplace books as well as printed volumes and pamphlets Finally the volume concludes with an examination of the literary marketplace with analyses of plays and poems which engage with and depict both spiritual and material markets Taken as a whole this collection posits that the modern conception of a division between religion and the socioeconomic marketplace was a largely fictional construct and the chapters demonstrate the depth to which both were integrated in early modern life
