The Land is Our History Miranda C. L. Johnson, 2016 This book chronicles the extraordinary story of indigenous activism in the late twentieth century Taking their claims for justice to law indigenous peoples transformed debates about national identity and reframed the terms of belonging in settler states from the back cover

Encyclopaedia of the History of Science, Technology, and Medicine in Non-Western Cultures Helaine Selin, 2013-11-11 The Encyclopaedia fills a gap in both the history of science and in cultural studies Reference works on other cultures tend either to omit science completely or pay little attention to it and those on the history of science almost always start with the Greeks with perhaps a mention of the Islamic world as a translator of Greek scientific works The purpose of the Encyclopaedia is to bring together knowledge of many disparate fields in one place and to legitimize the study of other cultures science Our aim is not to claim the superiority of other cultures but to engage in a mutual exchange of ideas The Western academic divisions of science technology and medicine have been united in the Encyclopaedia because in ancient cultures these disciplines were connected This work contributes to redressing the balance in the number of reference works devoted to the study of Western science and encourages awareness of cultural diversity The Encyclopaedia is the first compilation of this sort and it is testimony both to the earlier Eurocentric view of academia as well as to the widened vision of today There is nothing that crosses disciplinary and geographic boundaries dealing with both scientific and philosophical issues to the extent that this work does xi

Contested Governance Janet Hunt, Diane Smith, Stephanie Garling, Will Sanders, 2008-10-01 It is gradually being recognised by both Indigenous and non Indigenous Australians that getting contemporary Indigenous governance right is fundamental to improving Indigenous well being and generating sustained socioeconomic development This collection of papers examines the dilemmas and challenges involved in the Indigenous struggle for the development and recognition of systems of governance that they recognise as both legitimate and effective The authors highlight the nature of the contestation and negotiation between Australian governments their agents and Indigenous groups over the appropriateness of different governance processes values and practices and over the application of related policy institutional and funding frameworks within Indigenous affairs The long term comparative study reported in this monograph has been national in coverage and community and regional in focus It has pulled together a multidisciplinary team to work with partner communities and organisations to investigate Indigenous governance arrangements the processes structures scales institutions leadership powers capacities and cultural foundations across rural remote and urban settings This ethnographic case study research demonstrates that Indigenous and non Indigenous governance systems are intercultural in respect to issues of power authority institutions and relationships It documents the intended and unintended consequences beneficial and negative arising for both Indigenous and non Indigenous Australians from the realities of contested governance The findings suggest that the facilitation of effective legitimate governance should be a policy funding and institutional imperative for all Australian governments This research was conducted under an Australian Research Council Linkage Project with Reconciliation Australia as Industry Partner
