The vast richness of extant verbal and figurative notes accompanying the biblical texts in the intercolumns and margins of the manuscript pages have thus been largely overlooked The case studies gathered in this volume explore Jewish and Christian biblical manuscripts through the lens of their annotations addressing the various relationships between the primary layer of text and the secondary notes and exploring the roles and functions of annotated manuscripts as cultural artifacts By approaching biblical manuscripts as potential notepads the volume offers theoretical reflection and empirical analyses of the ways in which secondary notes may shed new light on the development and transmission of text traditions the shifting engagement with biblical manuscripts over time as well as the change of use and interpretation that may result from the addition of the notes themselves
