materiality in a remarkable European city How did citizens in Bruges create a home What did an ordinary domestic interior look like in the sixteenth century And more importantly how does one study the domestic culture of bygone times by analysing documents such as probate inventories These questions seem straightforward yet few endeavours are more challenging than reconstructing a sixteenth century domestic reality from written sources This book takes full advantage of the inventory and convincingly frames household objects in their original context of use Meticulously connecting objects people and domestic spaces the book introduces the reader to the rich material world of Bruges citizens in the Renaissance their sensory engagement their religious practice the role of women and other social factors By weaving insights from material culture studies with urban history At Home in Renaissance Bruges offers an appealing and holistic mixture of in depth socio economic cultural and material analysis In its approach the book goes beyond heavy handed theories and stereotypes about the exquisite taste of aristocratic elites focusing instead on the domestic materiality of Bruges middling groups Evocatively illustrated with contemporary paintings from Bruges and beyond this monograph shows a nuanced picture of domestic materiality in a remarkable European city Relationality and the Concept of God Henry

Jansen, 2025-02-10 Classical theism the dominant tradition in Christian theology has stressed the metaphysical concept of God i e God s ontological transcendence and independence from the world In this century however this concept of God has increasingly met with criticism On the basis of the Bible and new philosophical considerations it is argued that a relational concept of God better answers the fundamental concerns of the Christian faith In this book the author investigates the questions of whether one can conceive of God apart from the metaphysical attributes and whether reflection on the biblical depiction of God leads necessarily to a relational concept of God The author explores the questions by examining the relational concepts of God found in two contemporary German theologians Jürgen Moltmann and Wolfhart Pannenberg and uses the divine attribute of immutability as a focus for the discussion He argues that the relational concept of God presupposes another metaphysical conception of God which raises problems as serious as those in classical theism and that the Bible itself because of its nature as a narrative text is ambiguous in many respects as far as God is concerned A truly Christian doctrine of God must take both the metaphysical and relational aspects of God into account The Oxford

Handbook of European Islam Jocelyne Cesari, 2014-10-30 For centuries Muslim countries and Europe have engaged one another through theological dialogues diplomatic missions political rivalries and power struggles In the last thirty years due in large part to globalization and migration from Islamic countries to the West what was previously an engagement across national and cultural boundaries has increasingly become an internalized encounter within Europe itself Questions of the Hijab in schools freedom of expression in the wake of the Danish Cartoon crisis and the role of Shari'a have come to the forefront of contemporary European discourse The Oxford Handbook of European Islam is the first collection to present a comprehensive approach to the multiple and changing ways Islam has been studied across European countries Parts one to three address the state of knowledge of Islam and Muslims within a selection of European countries while presenting a critical view of the most up to date data specific to each country These chapters analyse the immigration cycles and policies related to the presence of Muslims tackling issues such as discrimination post colonial identity adaptation and assimilation The thematic chapters in parts four and five examine secularism radicalization Shari'a Hijab and Islamophobia with the goal of synthesizing different national discussion into a more comparative theoretical framework The Handbook attempts to balance cutting edge assessment with the knowledge that the content itself will eventually be superseded by events Featuring eighteen newly commissioned essays by noted scholars in the field this volume will provide an excellent resource for students and scholars interested in European Studies immigration Islamic studies and the sociology of religion Queer

Jewish Groups in Europe (1972-1990s) Jan Wilkens, 2025-03-31 In the 1970s queer Jews became excited by the developments of the Gay Liberation Movement in both the US and Europe Until then they were not able to express their queerness in Jewish communities and hoped for new inclusive spaces Yet they quickly realized that the movement was not as welcoming as anticipated Thus they started to organize in February 1972 the world's first queer Jewish group became publicly visible in London with its symposium The Jewish Homosexual in Society The Jewish Gay Group began tackling the exclusion of non heteronormative Jews in British Jewish and queer communities Soon after two more queer Jewish groups formed Beit Haverim House of Friends in Paris and Sjalhomo a neologism of shalom and homosexual in Amsterdam Besides their goal of emancipation these groups brought together their members based on shared experiences as both Jewish and queer opening up much needed spaces for social encounters The groups also established a Europe wide support network that

Beerens, 2024-09-30 In seventeenth century Brussels the careers of painters were shaped not only by their artistic talents but also by the communities to which they belonged This book explores the intricate relationship between the social structures and artistic production of the 353 painters who became masters in the Brussels Guild of Painters Goldbeaters and Stained Glass Makers between 1599 and 1706 This innovative study combines quantitative digital analysis with detailed qualitative case studies offering a novel approach to the social history of art By examining the various communities in which these artists operated this book provides new insights into how early modern painters both in Brussels and beyond created their art earned a living and navigated the complexities of urban life Painters and Communities in Seventeenth Century Brussels also presents the first overview of the Brussels Baroque with extensive biographical lists of the city's master painters

Lettering Young Readers in the Dutch Enlightenment Feike Dietz, 2021-05-22 This book presents a rigorous hugely informative analysis of the early history of Dutch children's literature pedagogical developments and emerging family formations Thoroughly researched Dietz's study will be essential for historians of eighteenth century childhood education and children's books both in the Dutch context and more widely Matthew Grenby Newcastle University UK A rich informative well documented and effectively illustrated discussion of the ways Dutch eighteenth century educators tried to transform youth into responsible readers It does so in a wide international context and masterfully connects this process to the radical politicization and de politicization of Dutch society in the revolutionary period Wijnand W Mijnhardt formerly of Utrecht University the Netherlands and the University of California at Los Angeles USA This book explores how children's literature and literacy could at once regulate and empower young people in the eighteenth century Dutch Republic Rather than presenting the history of childhood as a linear story of increasing agency it suggests that we view it as a continuous struggle with the impossibility of full agency for young people This volume demonstrates how this struggle informed the production of books in a historical context in which the development of independent youths was high on the political agenda In close interaction with international children's literature markets Dutch authors developed new strategies to make the members of young generations into capable readers and writers equipped to organize their own minds and bodies properly and to support a supposedly declining fatherland

Martin Bac,2010-04-16 This book revisits four early modern debates of Reformed theology concerning the will of God Reformed scholasticism advocated a particular relationship between divine knowledge will and power which was altered by Jesuits Remonstrants Descartes and Spinoza In all these debates modal categories like contingency and necessity play a prominent part Therefore these positions are evaluated with the help of modern modal logic including possible world semantics The final part of this study presents a systematic defense of the Reformed position which has been charged of theological determinism and of making God the author of sin In modern terms therefore the relation of divine and human freedom and the problem of evil are discussed
