The LaserPLUS detector is the central element of the VESDA smoke detection product range. Using unique detection principles, the LaserPLUS has a sensitivity range of 0.005 - 20% obscuration/m (0.0015 - 6% obscuration/ft). The LaserPLUS detects fire at the earliest possible stage and reliably measures very low to extremely high concentrations of smoke.

How It Works

Air is drawn into the LaserPLUS through a network of air sampling pipes by a high efficiency aspirator. Each inlet pipe has an airflow sensor that monitors airflow changes in the pipes. Air is exhausted from the LaserPLUS and may be vented back into the protected zone.

Inside the LaserPLUS, a sample of air is passed into the laser detection chamber via a dual-stage air filter. The first filtration stage removes dust and dirt from the air sample before entering the laser detection chamber for analysis. The second stage provides ultra fine air filtration to provide very clean air that is used to protect the optical surfaces inside the detector from contamination.

The detection chamber uses a stable Class I laser light source and carefully positioned sensors to achieve the optimum response to a vast range of smoke types.

The status of the detector and all alarm, service and fault events, are transmitted to displays and external systems via VESDAnet.

VESDAnet™

VESDA detectors and devices communicate across VESDAnet, the fault tolerant communications protocol. The VESDAnet loop provides a robust bi-directional communication network between devices, even allowing continued operation during single point wiring failures. It also allows for system programming from a single location and forms the basis of the modular nature of the VESDA system.

AutoLearn™

The LaserPLUS technology employs unique software tools to ensure optimum operation in many differing environments. AutoLearn monitors the ambient environment and sets the most appropriate alarm thresholds (Alert, Action, Fire1, Fire2) during the commissioning process to allow the earliest possible warning of a potential fire situation with no nuisance alarms.

Referencing

Environments that employ air handling systems may be affected by pollution external to the controlled environment when "fresh air make up" is added. Referencing by VESDA ensures that external pollution does not interfere with the true smoke level being detected in the protected environment. The system can safely compensate for this transient state and allow continued operation free from nuisance alarms.
