Roșia Montană Filip M. Alexandrescu,2020-06-01 The book provides a theoretically informed case study on the transformation of the experience of place in the two decades old conflict over the Ro ia Montan mine in Romania First the case study is set within a political economy approach of mining places before and during globalization The second theoretical approach used to illuminate the transformations of place is anthropological and draws on Clifford Geertz s 1979 distinction between experience nearness and experience distance Both these theoretical strands are employed to explain transformations in the experience of place and the subsequent making of a globalized place In contrast to the majority of social scientific research on Ro ia Montan which has used this case to illustrate broader arguments in political ecology or environmental justice e g moral economies degrowth or transnationalism this book explores the shifting discourses and practices of various local and extra local actors and how these have shaped the meanings of this place Without claiming to be impartial the book offers a critical interpretation of both corporate and social movement discourses as they shape the experience of place The arguments are fleshed out using extensive empirical material 66 individual respondents being mentioned in the analysis and contextualized interpretations of their views The book concludes by arguing that Ro ia Montan can offer a contemporary version of what Doreen Massey 1991 has called a progressive notion of place one which will increasingly render extractive projects both in Romania and worldwide as critical nodes in a web of socio ecological struggles and open ended change

Toxic and Intoxicating Oil Patricia Widener,2021-03-12 When oil and gas exploration was expanding across Aotearoa New Zealand Patricia Widener was there interviewing affected residents and environmental and climate activists and attending community meetings and anti drilling rallies Exploration was occurring on an unprecedented scale when oil disasters dwelled in recent memory socioecological worries were high campaigns for climate action were becoming global and transitioning toward a low carbon society seemed possible Yet unlike other communities who have experienced either an oil spill or hydraulic fracturing or offshore exploration or climate fears or disputes over unresolved Indigenous claims New Zealanders were facing each one almost simultaneously Collectively these grievances created the foundation for an organized civil society to construct and then magnify a comprehensive critical oil narrative in dialogue practice and aspiration Community advocates and socioecological activists mobilized for their health and well being for their neighborhoods and beaches for Planet Earth and Planet Ocean and for terrestrial and aquatic species and ecosystems They rallied against toxic climate altering pollution the extraction of fossil fuels a myriad of historic and contemporary inequities and for local just and sustainable communities ecologies economies and or energy sources In this allied ethnography quotes are used extensively to convey the tenor of some of the country s most passionate and committed people By analyzing the intersections of a social movement and the political economy of oil Widener reveals a nuanced story of oil resistance and promotion at a time when many anti drilling activists believed themselves to be on the front lines of the industry s inevitable decline

From Workshop to Waste Magnet Diane Sicotte,2016-09-21 Like many industrialized regions the Philadelphia metro area contains pockets of environmental degradation neighborhoods littered with abandoned waste sites polluting factories and smoke belching incinerators However other neighborhoods within and around the city are relatively pristine This eye opening book reveals that such environmental inequalities did not occur by chance but were instead the result of specific policy decisions that served to exacerbate endemic classism and racism From Workshop to Waste Magnet presents Philadelphia s environmental history as a bracing case study in mismanagement and injustice Sociologist Diane Sicotte digs deep into the city s past as a titan of American manufacturing to trace how only a few communities came to host nearly all of the area s polluting and waste disposal land uses By examining the complex interactions among economic decline federal regulations local politics and shifting ethnic demographics she not only dissects what went wrong in Philadelphia but also identifies lessons for environmental justice activism today Sicotte s research tallies both the environmental and social costs of industrial pollution exposing the devastation that occurs when mass quantities of society s wastes mix with toxic levels of systemic racism and economic inequality From Workshop to Waste Magnet is a compelling read for anyone concerned with the health of America s cities and the people who live in them
