Round the World (Classic Reprint) James Cook,2015-07-07 Excerpt from Voyages Round the World Cook's First Voyage The interests of science and the acquisition of geographical knowledge entered largely into the motives of the circumnavigations we have related But the first expedition of importance fitted out wholly for scientific objects was that entrusted to the command of the celebrated Captain James Cook This great navigator was born of humble parents his father was an agricultural labourer whose steady conduct was at length rewarded by his employer with the situation of hind or under steward As he had nine children and his means were slender he was unable to assist materially their individual exertions to procure a livelihood James when thirteen years of age was apprenticed to a shopkeeper at Straiths a fishing town not far from Whitby but the predilection of young Cook for the sea was soon manifested with that strength of inclination which is sure to accompany peculiar talents He engaged himself for seven years with the owners of some ships employed in the coal trade and when the period of his engagement was expired he was promoted by his employers to the rank of mate of one of their vessels The coal trade of England being chiefly carried on near a singularly dangerous coast where unceasing vigilance is required on the art of the seamen constitutes the best school of practical mariners in the world Cook who obeyed his own inclinations when he turned sailor profited no doubt in the highest degree from the opportunities which his coasting voyages afforded him of becoming acquainted with the practical part of navigation At length being in the Thames in 1755 when impressments were carried on to a great extent he resolved to anticipate the impending necessity and offered himself to serve on board the Eagle a man of war of 60 guns About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works Journal of a Voyage Round the World William Deane Seymour,2018-02 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the
