The Struggle For Aboriginal Rights A Documentary History:

The Struggle for Aboriginal Rights Bain Attwood, 2020-07-22 The Struggle for Aboriginal Rights is the first book of its kind Not only does it tell the history of the political struggle for Aboriginal rights in all parts of Australia it does so almost entirely through a selection of historical documents created by the Aboriginal campaigners themselves many of which have never been published It presents Aboriginal perspectives of their dispossession and their long and continuing fight to overcome this In charting the story of Aboriginal political activity from its beginnings on Flinders Island in the 1830s to the fight over native title today this book aims to help Australians better understand both the continuities and the changes in Aboriginal politics over the last 150 years in the leadership of the Aboriginal political struggle the objectives of these campaigners for rights for Aborigines their aspirations the sources of their programmes for change their methods of protest and the outcomes of their protest Through the words of Aboriginal activists across 150 years The Struggle for Aboriginal Rights charts the relationship between political involvement and Aboriginal identity The Struggle for Aboriginal Rights Bain Attwood, Andrew Markus, 1999 A unique record of the voices of Black Australia A Higher Authority: Indigenous Transnationalism and Australia Ravi De Costa, 2012 This important book recovers the long tradition of indigenous transnationalism contact with external people institutions ideas throughout Australia s history from before white settlement to the present Dreams and Nightmares of a White Australia Catriona Elder, 2009 Analysis of the assimilation issues and race relations in five novels from the 1950s and 1960s and three non fiction and texts that were produced in academic and government circles regarding the half caste problem in the 1930s and 1940s includes overview of assimilation in Australia and definitions of assimilation management of race relations in Australia eugenic politics Aboriginality 1937 Aboriginal welfare conference Citizenship for the Aborigines 1944 Australia s Colours Minority Its place in the community 1947

Coast Ian Hoskins, 2013-11-01 From Eden to Byron Bay the New South Wales coast is more than 2000 kilometres long with 130 estuaries 100 coastal lakes and a rich history This the first history written of the New South Wales coast traces our relationship with this stretch of land and sea starting millennia ago when Aboriginal people feasted on shellfish and perfected the art of building bark canoes to our present obsession with the beach as a place to live or holiday Leading us through the European fascination with marine life the attempts to establish a whaling industry the fear of seaborne invasion which led to the creation of a navy of our own in 1911 through to the rise of our unstoppable enthusiasm for surfing and fishing Ian Hoskins argues that our current enthrallment with the coast began more recently than we might think Decolonizing Solidarity Clare Land, 2015-07-15 In this highly original and much needed book Clare Land interrogates the often fraught endeavours of activists from colonial backgrounds seeking to be politically supportive of Indigenous struggles Blending key theoretical and practical questions Land argues that the predominant impulses which drive middle class settler activists to support Indigenous people cannot lead to successful alliances and meaningful social change unless they are significantly transformed through a process of both public political action and critical self reflection Based on a wealth of in depth original research and focussing in particular on Australia where despite strident challenges the vestiges of British law and cultural power have restrained the nation s emergence out of colonizing dynamics Decolonizing Solidarity provides a vital resource for those involved in Indigenous activism and scholarship

Empire and Indigeneity Richard Price,2021-05-30 Indigeneity is inseparable from empire and the way empire responds to the Indigenous presence is a key historical factor in shaping the flow of imperial history This book is about the consequences of the encounter in the early nineteenth century between the British imperial presence and the First Peoples of what were to become Australia and New Zealand However the shape of social relations between Indigenous peoples and the forces of empire does not remain constant over time The book tracks how the creation of empire in this part of the world possessed long lasting legacies both for the settler colonies that emerged and for the wider history of British imperial culture

Bands, Tribes, and First Peoples and Nations Ariana Wolff,2014-07-15 Anthropology politics and history come together to form an insightful blend in this authoritative title covering kinship tribalism and nonurban cultures the world over Both the theory and practical examples of tribal cultures are presented with several chapters dedicated to the various schools of anthropological thought on nonurban societies accompanied by a survey of tribal and indigenous cultures both historically and in modern times American Indians the indigenous peoples of South America nomadic tribes of the Middle East and Aboriginal Australians are a few of the societies explored in this extensive text

Major Reward and Recognition Events Lukasz Swiatek,2023-08-24 Using a range of interdisciplinary ideas Major Reward and Recognition Events Transformations and Critical Perspectives is an expert led informative volume exploring the global growth of major award shows and prize giving ceremonies since the start of the twentieth century and outlining their key multimodal components core functions and transformations over time Given the growth of these events and therefore the increase in complex resources and specialist workers required to assemble and promote them this book discusses concerns relating to such events including those pertaining to social justice and representation environmental impacts wellbeing commercialisation and materialistic excess Embellished with illustrative tables and images throughout the book covers a plethora of award shows and ceremonies evaluating their collective future in an increasingly politically unstable post Covid 19 world dealing with growing global environmental change This significant book is an invaluable resource for academics and researchers of critical event studies communication and media studies as well as related social science disciplines The book will also be of interest to enthusiasts and organisers of major recognition and reward events

Working for the clampdown Colin Coulter,2019-07-04 This volume brings together a range of writers from different academic disciplines and different locations to provide an engaging and accessible critical exploration of one of the most revered and reviled bands in the history of popular music The essays collated here locate The Clash in their own explosive cultural moment of punk s year zero and examine how the group speaks from beyond the grave to the uncanny parallels of other moments of social and political crisis In addition the collection considers the impact of the band in a range of different geopolitical contexts with various contributors exploring what the band meant in settings as diverse as Italy England Northern Ireland Australia and the United States The diverse essays gathered in Working for the Clampdown cast a critical light on both the cultural legacy and contemporary resonance of one of the most influential bands ever to have graced a stage

Rethinking Settler Colonialism Annie E. Coombes, 2006-03-17 Focusing on the long history of contact between indigenous peoples and the white colonial communities who settled in Australia Aotearoa New Zealand Canada and South Africa this book investigates how histories of colonial settlement have been mythologized narrated and embodied in public culture in the twentieth century through monuments exhibitions and images

Irish and Scottish Encounters with Indigenous Peoples Graeme Morton, David A. Wilson, 2013-05-01 The expansion of the British Empire during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries created the greatest mass migration in human history in which the Irish and Scots played a central complex and controversial role The essays in this volume explore the diverse encounters Irish and Scottish migrants had with Indigenous peoples in North America and Australasia The Irish and Scots were among the most active and enthusiastic participants in what one contributor describes as the greatest single period of land theft cultural pillage and casual genocide in world history At the same time some settlers attempted to understand Indigenous society rather than destroy it while others incorporated a romanticized view of Natives into a radical critique of European society and others still empathized with Natives as fellow victims of imperialism These essays investigate the extent to which the condition of being Irish and Scottish affected settlers attitudes to Indigenous peoples and examine the political social religious cultural and economic dimensions of their interactions Presenting a variety of viewpoints the editors reach the provocative conclusion that the Scottish and Irish origins of settlers were less important in determining attitudes and behaviour than were the specific circumstances in which those settlers found themselves at different times and places in North America Australia and New Zealand Contributors include Donald Harman Akenson Queen's John Eastlake College Cork Marjory Harper Aberdeen Andrew Hinson Toronto Michele Holmgren Mount Royal Kevin Hutchings Northern British Columbia Anne Lederman Royal Conservatory of Music Patricia A McCormack Alberta Mark G McGowan Toronto Ann McGrath Australian National Cian T McMahon Nevada Graeme Morton Guelph Michael Newton Xavier P draig Siadhail Saint Mary's Brad Patterson Victoria University of Wellington Beverly Soloway Lakehead and David A Wilson Toronto

Taking Assimilation to Heart Katherine Ellinghaus, 2006-01-01 Examines marriages between white women and indigenous men in Australia and the United States between 1887 and 1937 This study uncovers striking differences between the policies of assimilation endorsed by Australia and those encouraged by the United States

Making Change Happen Kevin Cook, Heather Goodall, 2013-09-11 This book is a unique window into a dynamic time in the politics and history of Australia The two decades from 1970 to the Bicentennial in 1988 saw the emergence of a new landscape in Australian Indigenous politics There were struggles triumphs

and defeats around land rights community control of organisations national coalitions and the international movement for Indigenous rights The changes of these years generated new roles for Aboriginal people Leaders had to grapple with demands to be administrators and managers as well as spokespeople and lobbyists The challenges were personal as well as organisational with a central one being how to retain personal integrity in the highly politicised atmosphere of the Aboriginal Industry Kevin Cook was in the middle of many of these changes as a unionist educator land rights campaigner cultural activist and advocate for liberation movements in Southern Africa the Pacific and around the world But Cookie has not wanted to tell the story of his own life in these pages Instead with Heather Goodall a long time friend he has gathered together many of the activists with whom he worked to tell their stories of this important time Readers are invited into the frank and vivid conversations Cookie had with forty five black and white activists about what they wanted to achieve the plans they made and the risks they took to make change happen You never doubted Kevin Cook His very presence made you confident because the guiding hand is always there Equal attention is given to all I am one of many who worked with Cookie and Judy through the Tranby days and in particular the 1988 Bicentennial March for Freedom Justice and Hope What days they were I m glad this story is being told Linda Burney MLA New South Wales Kevin Cook was a giant in the post war struggle for Aboriginal rights His ability to connect the dots and make things happen was important in both the political and cultural resurgence of the 1970s onwards Meredith Burgmann former MLC New South Wales Kevin has had a transformative effect on the direction of my life and the lives of so many other people This book is an important contribution to understanding not only Kevin s life but also the broader struggles for social and economic justice for community empowerment and of the cooperative progressive movement It will greatly assist the ongoing campaign for full and sustainable reconciliation Paddy Crumlin National Secretary Maritime Union of Australia Cookie has made great contributions in enhancing the struggles of our people He is a motivator an astute strategist and an excellent communicator with wonderful people skills It s a pleasure to be able to call him a mate and a brother John Ah Kit former MLA Northern Territory

Social Determinants of Indigenous Health Bronwyn Carson, Terry Dunbar, Richard D Chenhall, Ross Bailie, 2020-07-16 The opportunities and comfortable lifestyle available to most Australians have been denied to generations of Indigenous people As a result some of Australia s original inhabitants suffer from what has been described as Fourth World standards of health This is out of place in a country that prides itself on egalitarianism and a fair go for all Shifting the focus from individual behaviour to the social and political circumstances that influence people s lives and ultimately their health helps us to understand the origins of poor health It can also guide action to bring about change Social Determinants of Indigenous Health offers a systematic overview of the relationship between the social and political environment and health Highly respected contributors from around Australia examine the long term health impacts of the Indigenous experience of dispossession colonial rule and racism They also explore the role of factors such as poverty class community and social capital education employment and housing They scrutinise the social dynamics of making policy for Indigenous Australians and the interrelation between human rights and health Finally they outline a framework for effective health interventions which take social factors into consideration This is a groundbreaking work developed in consultation with Indigenous health professionals and researchers It is essential reading for anyone working in Indigenous health Neoliberal Indigenous Policy Elizabeth Strakosch,2016-02-05 This book examines recent changes to Indigenous policy in English speaking settler states and locates them within the broader shift from social to neo liberal framings of citizen state relations via a case study of Australian federal policy between 2000 and 2007 Routledge Handbook of Global Citizenship Studies Engin Isin,Peter Nyers,2014-06-27 Citizenship studies is at a crucial moment of globalizing as a field What used to be mainly a European North American and Australian field has now expanded to major contributions featuring scholarship from Latin America Asia Africa and the Middle East The Routledge Handbook of Global Citizenship Studies takes into account this globalizing moment At the same time it considers how the global perspective exposes the strains and discords in the concept of citizenship as it is understood today With over fifty contributions from international interdisciplinary experts the Handbook features state of the art analyses of the practices and enactments of citizenship across broad continental regions Africas Americas Asias and Europes as well as deterritorialized forms of citizenship Diasporicity and Indigeneity Through these analyses the Handbook provides a deeper understanding of citizenship in both empirical and theoretical terms This volume sets a new agenda for scholarly investigations of citizenship Its wide ranging contributions and clear accessible style make it essential reading for students and scholars working on citizenship issues across the humanities and social sciences Out of the Silence Robert Foster,Amanda Nettelbeck,2012-09-27 When South Australia was founded in 1836 the British government was pursuing a new approach to the treatment of Aboriginal people hoping to avoid the violence that marked earlier Australian settlement The colony s founding Proclamation declared that as British subjects Aboriginal people would be as much under the safeguard of the law as the Colonists themselves and equally entitled to the privileges of British subjects But could colonial governments provide the protection that was promised Out of the Silence explores the nature and extent of violence on South Australia s frontiers in light of the foundational promise to provide Aboriginal people with the protection of the law and the resonances of that history in social memory What do we find when we compare the history of the frontier with the patterns of how it is remembered and forgotten And what might this reveal about our understanding of the nation s history and its legacies in the present Governing natives Ben Silverstein,2018-10-16 In the 1930s a series of crises transformed relationships between settlers and Aboriginal people in Australia s Northern Territory By the late 1930s Australian settlers were coming to understand the Northern Territory as a colonial formation requiring a new form of government Responding to crises of social reproduction public power and legitimacy they re thought the scope of settler colonial government by drawing on both the art of indirect rule and on a representational economy of Indigenous elimination to develop a new political dispensation that sought to incorporate and consume Indigenous production and sovereignties This book locates Aboriginal history within imperial history situating the settler colonial politics of Indigeneity in a broader governmental context Indigenous Textual Cultures Tony Ballantyne,Lachy Paterson,Angela Wanhalla,2020-08-10 The contributors to Indigenous Textual Cultures examined the ways in which indigenous peoples created textual cultures to navigate shape and contest empire colonialism and modernity
