in which they live This book sees ageing as a life journey that incorporates a process of citizenizing in which people build their identity as part of their family and community But the social experience of illness frailty disability and reaching the end of life may de citizen older people by devaluing the social identity that comes from continuing social engagement We de citizen older people by emphasizing dependence on services and their cost to public expenditure instead of valuing the interdependence of participation and mutual respect This book argues that older people retain full citizenship for the whole of their lives up to the moment of death but what does this mean for health and social care In this groundbreaking book Malcolm Payne argues that social work with older people must build re citizenizing practice strategies to value both the common and the special aspects of the citizenship of older people Current models of social care and social work create dependency rather than relying on values of participative interdependence The failure to recognize the end of life as a crucial element in all social care and social work for older people means that the lessons learned in providing palliative and end of life care in healthcare have not been transferred to social care and the priorities of end of life care have not been adequately encompassed in social work with older people
