Translation and Language Peter Fawcett, 2014-06-03 Translation Studies and linguistics have been going through a love hate relationship since the 1950s This book assesses both sides of the relationship tracing the very real contributions that linguists have made to translation studies and at the same time recognizing the limitations of many of their approaches With good humour and evenhandedness Fawcett describes detailed taxonomies of translation strategies and deals with traditional problems such as equivalence Yet he also explains and assesses the more recent contributions of text linguistics sociolinguistics pragmatics and psycholinguistics This work is exceptional in that it presents theories originally produced in Russian German French and Spanish as well as English Its broad coverage and accessible treatment provide essential background reading for students of translation at all levels

On Translating Signs Dinda L. Gorlée, 2022-04-25

Translation produces meaningful versions of textual information But what is a text What is translation What is meaning And what is a translational version This book On Translating Signs Exploring Text and Semio Translation responds to those and other eternal translation theoretical questions from a semiotic point of view Dinda L Gorl e notes that in this world of interpretation and translation surrounded by our semio translational universe perfused with signs we can intuit whether or not an object in front of us dis qualifies as a text This spontaneous understanding requires no formalized definition in order to happen in the receivers of text signs The author further observes that translated signs are not only intelligible for target audiences but also work together as a theatre of consciousness or a theatre of controversy which the author views as powered by Charles S Peirce s three categories of Firstness Secondness and Thirdness This book presents the virtual community of translators as emotional dynamical intellectual but not infallible semioticians They translate text signs from one language and culture into another thus creating an innovative sign milieu packed with intuitive dynamic and changeable signs Translators produce fleeting and fallible text translations with obvious errors caused by ignorance or misguided knowledge Text signs are translatable yet there is no such thing as a perfect or final translation And without the ongoing creating of translated signs of all kinds there would be no novelty no vagueness no manipulation of texts and for that matter no semiosis Handbook of Translation Studies Yves Gambier,2013
