Multinational Companies from Japan Robert Fitzgerald, Chris Rowley, 2017-10-02

Since the bursting of Japan's bubble economy from 1990 onwards its multinational companies MNCs have faced new competitive challenges and questions about the management practices on which they had built their initial success in global markets Japanese engagement in the international economy has undergone a number of phases Historically Japanese MNCs learnt from foreign companies frequently through strategic alliances After the post war economic miracle Japanese manufacturers in particular converted themselves into MNCs transferred their home grown capabilities to overseas subsidiaries and made an impact on the world economy But the period after 1990 marked declining Japanese competitiveness and asked questions about the ability of Japanese MNCs to be more responsive and global in their strategies organization and capabilities It has been argued that the established management practices of Japanese MNCs inhibited adaptation to recent demands of global competition This volume presents new case evidence on how Japanese MNCs have responded to the new challenges of the global market place and it provides examples of how they have transformed strategies and competitive capabilities This book was originally published as a special issue of Asia Pacific Business Review
