Trauma's Death Deanna Repose Oaks, 2022-09-30 A Trauma Theory Reading of the Book of Job Michelle

Keener, 2025-06-12 Michelle Keener incorporates advances in modern trauma theory in the interpretation of the book of Job. Keener focuses primarily on using the framework of a psychological trauma narrative to read the text providing new insights into how Job functions as a text that deals with trauma. After an extensive introduction to the history and fundamentals of trauma theory, Keener actively applies a trauma theory reading to the book of Job with special attention paid to the elements of a therapeutic trauma narrative, its role in the cognitive resolution of trauma, and how this is reflected in the biblical text. This approach provides alternative answers to some of the suggested redactions, reconstruction, and inconsistencies identified in the text of Job by previous scholars. Keener also draws in the Wesleyan Quadrilateral as a means of reading the texts and examines how her conclusions may be useful in applied community contexts. Trauma in 20th Century Multicultural

American Poetry Jamie D. Barker, 2020-02-06 In Trauma in 20th Century Multicultural American Poetry, Jamie D. Barker argues that by using literary trauma theory in conjunction with a reader response approach, readers can gain a better understanding of how poetry can work towards building community and encouraging empowerment over oppression by establishing collectives of people who may share similar stories and experiences connected to trauma. Rather than demonstrating how the poetry may fail or trying to establish what traumatic events the speaker or poet in some studies may have encountered, and the significance thereof, this study focuses on how the reader may find community with the ideas represented within the poem. The poetry of various ethnicities is examined, including African American poets Amiri Baraka and Lucille Clifton, Native American poets Robin Coffee, Linda Hogan, and Peter Blue Cloud, as well as Japanese American poets Mitsuye Yamada, Keiho Soga, and Lawson Fusao Inada. Although many of these poets have had their poems examined in the past, none have been explored through this type of approach. Furthermore, very few studies have expanded upon the ideas of literary trauma theory by using reader response, and no writings have examined the idea of ambivalence in poetry as this study does. The Art and Science of Trauma and the Autobiographical Meg Jensen, 2019-01-04 This book examines posttraumatic autobiographical projects elucidating the complex relationship between the science of trauma and how that idea is understood across various scientific disciplines and the rhetorical strategies of fragmentation, dissociation, reticence, and repetitive troping widely used in the representation of traumatic experience. From autobiographical fictions to prison poems, from witness testimony to autobiography and from testimonio to war memorials, otherwise dissimilar projects speak of past suffering through a limited and even predictable discourse in search of healing. Drawing on approaches from literary, human rights, and cultural studies that highlight relations between trauma, language, meaning, and selfhood, and the latest research on the science of trauma from the fields of clinical, behavioral, and evolutionary psychology and neuroscience, I read such autobiographical projects not as symptoms but as complex interrogative negotiations of trauma and its aftermath.

commemorative and performative narratives navigating aesthetic biological cultural linguistic and emotional pressure and inspiration

Traumatic Verses Andrés José Nader, 2007 Traumatic Verses provides psychoanalytically informed close readings of a range of poems and discusses their significance for aesthetic theory and for research on the camps It also tells the stories behind the composition and preservation of these poems and the history of their publication since 1945 Most of the poems appear here for the first time in English translation along with the original texts This book fills a gap left by literary historians who have mostly ignored writings from the camps and avoided careful scrutiny of literature produced under the Nazi regime Studies of trauma have concentrated on post traumatic experiences discussions of aesthetics after the Holocaust have neglected the issue of the artistic impulse in the camps On both counts this book constitutes a unique contribution to scholarship showing that when read attentively the poems written in the camps are invaluable sites for confronting the Nazi past book jacket

Ted Hughes and Trauma Danny O'Connor, 2016-08-31 This book is a radical re appraisal of the poetry of Ted Hughes placing him in the context of continental theorists such as Jacques Lacan Jacques Derrida and Slavoj Žižek to address the traumas of his work As an undergraduate Hughes was visited in his sleep by a burnt fox man who left a bloody handprint on his essay warning him of the dangers of literary criticism Hereafter criticism became burning the foxes This book offers a defence of literary criticism drawing Hughes poetry and prose into the network of theoretical work he dismissed as the tyrant's whisper by demonstrating a shared concern with trauma Covering a wide range of Hughes work it explores the various traumas that define his writing Whether it is comparing his idea of man as split from nature with that of Jacques Lacan considering his challenging relationship with language in light of Roland Barthes and Jacques Derrida seeing him in the art gallery and at the movies with Gilles Deleuze or considering his troubled relationship with femininity in regard to Teresa Brennan and Slavoj Žižek Burning the Foxes offers a fresh look at a familiar poet

Women and National Trauma in Late Imperial Chinese Literature Wai-yee Li, 2020-10-26 The Ming Qing dynastic transition in seventeenth century China was an epochal event that reverberated in Qing writings and beyond political disorder was bound up with vibrant literary and cultural production Women and National Trauma in Late Imperial Chinese Literature focuses on the discursive and imaginative space commanded by women Encompassing writings by women and by men writing in a feminine voice or assuming a female identity as well as writings that turn women into a signifier through which authors convey their lamentation nostalgia or moral questions for the fallen Ming the book delves into the mentality of those who remembered or reflected on the dynastic transition as well as those who reinvented its significance in later periods It shows how history and literature intersect how conceptions of gender mediate the experience and expression of political disorder Why and how are variations on themes related to gender boundaries female virtues vices agency and ethical dilemmas used to allegorize national destiny In pursuing answers to these questions Wai yee Li explores how this multivalent presence of women in different genres provides a window into the emotional and psychological turmoil of the Ming Qing transition and of subsequent moments of national trauma 2016 Joseph Levenson Book Prize Pre 1900 Category China and Inner Asia Council of the Association for Asian Studies

The Trauma of Defeat James Martin Skidmore, 2005 This is the first book length study to consider Ricarda Huch s historical political thought and assess Huch s place within the lively historiographical discourses of the 1920s One of the most famous writers of her day Huch 1864 1947 was known for her poetry fiction and histories of German Romanticism and the Thirty Years War Like many of her generation Huch was shaken by Germany s defeat in the First World War and this shock motivated her to use her historiography to address Germany s post war situation Convinced that the German nation possessed an identity best expressed by the ideals of Romanticism Huch attributed Germany s decline to the westernization of German political culture absolutism and centralization had replaced the theoretical perfection of the decentralized early Holy Roman Empire of the German Nation Her Weimar histories of medieval and nineteenth century Germany urged a defeated and traumatized nation to return to a path that had been abandoned during the Wilhelmine Empire Topics explored include Huch s use of Nietzschean monumentalism a comparison with popular historians of the period e g E Kantorowicz the echoes of her political thought in her poetry and fiction and her complex relationship to German nationalism

Early Modern Trauma Erin Peters, Cynthia Richards, 2021-08 The term trauma refers to a wound or rupture that disorients causing suffering and fear Trauma theory has been heavily shaped by responses to modern catastrophes and as such trauma is often seen as inherently linked to modernity Yet psychological and cultural trauma as a result of distressing or disturbing experiences is a human phenomenon that has been recorded across time and cultures The long seventeenth century 1598 1715 has been described as a period of almost continuous warfare and the sixteenth to eighteenth centuries saw the development of modern slavery colonialism and nationalism and witnessed plagues floods and significant sociopolitical economic and religious transformation In Early Modern Trauma editors Erin Peters and Cynthia Richards present a variety of ways early modern contemporaries understood and narrated their experiences Studying accounts left by those who experienced extreme events increases our understanding of the contexts in which traumatic experiences have been constructed and interpreted over time and broadens our understanding of trauma theory beyond the contemporary Euro American context while giving invaluable insights into some of the most pressing issues of today
