From dinosaur cloning to global warming nanotechnology to time travel animal behavior to human genetics Crichton always takes us to the cutting edge of science and then pushes the envelope. The Science of Michael Crichton examines the amazing inventions of Crichton's books and lifts up the hood revealing the science underneath. In intelligent and well thought essays scholars and experts decide what Crichton gets right and what he gets wrong. They examine which Crichton imaginings are feasible and which are just plain impossible. Scenarios examined include whether dinosaurs can be cloned if nanotechnological particles can evolve intelligence and if we can go back in time.

Defining Travel Susan L. Roberson, 2007-06 With essays by Gloria Anzaldúa, Jean Baudrillard, William Bevis, Homi Bhabha, Michel Butor, Hélène Cixous, Erik Cohen, Michel de Certeau, Wayne Franklin, Paul Fussell, Farah Jasmine Griffin, Caren Kaplan, Eric Leed, Dean MacCannell, Doreen Massey, Carl Pedersen, Gustavo Pérez Firmat, Mary Louise Pratt, R. Radhakrishnan, Edward W. Said, and Thayer Scudder. Travel, movement, mobility: these are some of the essential activities in human life. Whether we travel to foreign lands or just across the city we all journey and from our journeying we shape ourselves, our history, and the stories we tell. In essays written by some of the most respected contemporary scholars, this anthology brings together some of the best informed convictions about travel. Travel so essential to human life is a complex matter that encompasses a variety of travel experiences: family vacation, political exile, exploration of distant lands, immigration, mundane shopping trips. Likewise, as the essays in the collection demonstrate, discussion of travel crosses a range of personal and theoretical perspectives from the postmodern sensibility of Jean Baudrillard to R. Radhakrishnan's explanation to his son of what it means for Indians to live in the United States. As the field of travel itself travels across academic and theoretical boundaries, it brings together sociology, anthropology, geography, history, psychology, and literary criticism. Recognizing that multidimensional quality of travel, this book gathers essays that represent various travel experiences and approaches to discussing them. Mapping out definitions of travel, the collection includes essays on tourism and travel writing, on modern globalization and the diaspora, on immigration, migration, and forced relocation. Defining Travel also highlights American experiences of mobility by including essays on Native Americans and early contact with the New World, as well as the massive migration of African Americans to northern cities. Running throughout the essays are sometimes conflicting discussions about what constitutes travel and the home site, the role of travel knowledge and power, especially when travel is accompanied by imperialistic motives. Here readers truly will discover that the essence of human life is wayfaring.

Susan L. Roberson, an assistant professor of English at Alabama State University in Montgomery, is the editor of Women America and Movement: Narratives of Relocation and author of Emerson in His Sermons: A Man Made Self. Time

Travel John Hamilton, 2006-08-15 Introduces young readers to the world of science fiction Mark Twain's Travel Literature Harold H. Hellwig, 2015-01-28 This critical study analyzes major concepts in the travel literature of Mark Twain and notes how his oeuvre including his classic works of fiction revolves around travel as a central issue The book focuses especially on his representations of time place and identity in the travel works Roughing It A Tramp Abroad The Innocents Abroad Life on The Mississippi and Following the Equator All receive an in depth analysis noting Twain's strong sense of nostalgia for the disappearing American frontier his growing concern over the assimilation of Native American cultures and his continual search for a sense of personal and national identity One appendix provides a complete list of the travel literature contained in Twain's personal library 365 Travel Lisa Bach, 2001 Whether kept on a nightstand or tucked in a backpack this volume of daily travel gems will inspire readers who dream of faraway places Illustrations

Methods for Teaching Travel Literature and Writing Eileen Groom, 2005 The contributors to Methods for Teaching Travel Literature and Writing Exploring the World and Self discuss how and why they have integrated travel literature and writing into their courses Subjects range from the study of travel literature granting insight into how travel authors such as Bill Bryson and Paul Theroux convince readers to buy into their worlds and reflect the readers' positions in society to contemplating the meanings of the words traveler and tourist Other chapters examine how actual traveling can shape students' writing and vice versa whereas still others address how the study of the genre and actually writing it promotes interdisciplinarity
