

The background of the cover is a sepia-toned photograph. It depicts a wide body of water, likely a strait or river, stretching towards a distant, forested shoreline. On the left side, in the foreground, there is a wooden pier or dock structure with several vertical posts and horizontal beams. A small boat is moored at the pier. The sky is a uniform, light color, and the overall tone is historical and serene.

Joachim Krause, Sebastian Bruns

The Straits Of Malacca Gateway Or Gauntlet:

Straits of Malacca Donald B. Freeman, 2003 For centuries the Straits of Malacca a narrow waterway between the Malay peninsula and the island of Sumatra has been both a major conduit for long distance trade between Asia and the West and one of the most dangerous areas for commercial shipping Casting a broad net across several disciplines particularly geography and political economy Donald Freeman examines the significance of the Straits as both a trade gateway and a choke point that has forced generations of sailors to run the gauntlet Rather than the more conventional historical narrative approach he offers an innovative adoption of an interdisciplinary analytical perspective through his use of detailed case studies of trading systems and shipping hazards Negotiating Abolition Shawna Herzog, 2020-12-10 Negotiating Abolition The Antislavery Project in the British Straits Settlements 1786 1843 explores how sex and gender complicated the enforcement of colonial anti slavery policies in the region the challenges local officials faced in identifying slave populations and how European reclassification of slave labor to systems of indenture or free labor created a new illicit trade for women and girls to the Straits Settlements of Southeast Asia Through a history of early 19th century slavery and abolition in this often overlooked region in British imperial history Herzog bridges a historiographical gap between colonial and modern slave systems She discusses the dynamic intersectionality between perceptions of race class gender and civilization within the Straits and how this informed behavior and policy regarding slavery abolition and prostitution within the settlement This book provides an important new perspective for scholars of slavery interested in Southeast Asia British imperialism in the Indian Ocean world and Asia the East India Company in the Straits and gender and sexuality in the context of empire

Connected Heritages Mareike Pampus, 2025-04-05 Connected Heritages The Inner Life of Penang in the Indian Ocean World opens up the interdisciplinary possibilities of transnational and oceanic historical inquiry paired with granular ethnographic research Departing from conventional land and nation centric approaches the book situates Penang Malaysia and particularly its historic core George Town within the fluid realm of lateral networks revealing the profound influence of the sea on the port city's political economic social and cultural landscape It does so by integrating ethnographic depth offering readers an intimate and immersive journey into the lived experiences of George Town's diverse communities notably its two major Peranakan groups with a broader historical and transnational understanding of the circulations that have shaped the inner life of the port city Through the careful observation and interpretation of everyday practices habits and stories this singular study paints a vivid portrait of the port city's complex connections and identities shaped by its maritime connections In doing so the book offers an anthropology of the everyday and its utility for developing our understanding of the ways in which people and communities in Penang perceive and interpret their contemporary reality Monsoon Robert D. Kaplan, 2011-09-13 On the world maps common in America the Western Hemisphere lies front and center while the Indian Ocean region all but disappears This convention reveals the geopolitical focus of the now departed twentieth century but in the twenty first century that focus will fundamentally change In this pivotal examination of the countries known as Monsoon Asia which include India Pakistan China Indonesia Burma Oman Sri Lanka Bangladesh and Tanzania bestselling author Robert D Kaplan shows how crucial this dynamic area has become to American power It is here that the fight for democracy energy independence and religious freedom will be lost or won and it is here that American foreign policy must concentrate if the United States is to remain relevant in an ever changing world From the Horn of Africa to the Indonesian archipelago and beyond Kaplan exposes the effects of population growth climate change and extremist politics on this unstable region demonstrating why Americans can no longer afford to ignore this important area of the world
