A Story Larger than My Own Janet Burroway, 2024-05-31 In 1955 Maxine Kumin submitted a poem to the Saturday Evening Post Lines on a Half Painted House made it into the magazine but not before Kumin was asked to produce via her husband's employer verification that the poem was her original work Kumin who went on to win the Pulitzer Prize for poetry was part of a groundbreaking generation of women writers who came of age during the midcentury feminist movement By challenging the status quo and ultimately finding success for themselves they paved the way for future generations of writers In A Story Larger than My Own Janet Burroway brings together Kumin Julia Alvarez Jane Smiley Erica Jong and fifteen other accomplished women of this generation to reflect on their writing lives The essays and poems featured in this collection illustrate that even writers who achieve critical and commercial success experience a familiar pattern of highs and lows over the course of their careers Along with success comes the pressure to sustain it as well as a constant search for subject matter all too frequent crises of confidence the challenges of a changing publishing scene and the difficulty of combining writing with the ordinary stuff of life family marriage jobs The contributors all now over the age of sixty also confront the effects of aging with its paradoxical duality of new limitations and newfound freedom Taken together these stories offer advice from experience to writers at all stages of their careers and serve as a collective memoir of a truly remarkable generation of women

The Behavioral Economics of Translation Douglas Robinson, 2022-11-30 This book applies frameworks from behavioral economics to Western thinking about translation mapping four approaches to eight keywords in translation studies to bring together divergent perspectives on the study of translation and interpreting The volume takes its points of departure from the tensions between the concerns of behavioral and neoclassical economists The book considers on one side behavioral economists interest in the predictable irrationality of Humans and its nuances as they unfold in terms of gender here organized around Masculine Human Feminine Human and Queer perspectives and on the other side neoclassical economists chief concerns with the unfailing rationality of the Econs Robinson applies these four approaches across eight chapters each representing a keyword in the study of translation agency difference Eurocentrism hermeneutics language norms rhetoric and world literature with case studies that problematize the different categories Taken together the book offers a comprehensive treatment of the behavioral economics of translation and promotes new ways of thinking in the study of translation and interpreting making it of interest to scholars in the discipline as well as those working along interdisciplinary lines in related fields such as philosophy literature and political science
