Kowalewski,2019-08-17 Offers readers a way to find their place in God s story A creative invitation to those who are on the margins of the church Recent research in the sociology of religion indicates that around one in five Americans are religiously liminal that is they are on the fence about affiliating with a faith or a congregation Traveling Home is an invitation to those people who are standing on the edges or just coming into the Church It makes a case for why Christianity can make a difference by taking the reader on a spiritual journey through the story and ancient wisdom of the Bible It shows the reader how to find a place within this great cosmic adventure Why Christianity at all How do we understand where we fit into a bigger picture Anyone asking these questions including people exploring other liturgical traditions will find this book of interest It is also a tool for clergy teaching newcomer inquirer classes The Traveling Chautauqua Roger E. Barrows,2019-06-12 Before radio and sound movies early 20th century performers and lecturers traveled the nation providing entertainment and education to Americans thirsty for culture These chautauquas brought politicians activists scholars musical ensembles and theatrical productions to remote communities A conduit for global perspectives and progressive ideas these gatherings introduced issues like equal suffrage prohibition and pure food laws to rural America This book explores an overlooked yet influential movement in U S history capturing the vagaries of speakers and performers lives on the road and their reception by audiences Excerpts from lectures and plays portray a vibrant circuit that in a single summer drew 20 million in more than 9 000 towns Reorienting the East Martin Jacobs,2014-09-30 Reorienting the East explores the Islamic world as it was encountered envisioned and elaborated by Jewish travelers from the Middle Ages to the early modern period The first comprehensive investigation of Jewish travel writing from this era this study engages with questions raised by postcolonial studies and contributes to the debate over the nature and history of Orientalism as defined by Edward Said Examining two dozen Hebrew and Judeo Arabic travel accounts from the mid twelfth to the early sixteenth centuries Martin Jacobs asks whether Jewish travelers shared Western perceptions of the Islamic world with their Christian counterparts Most Jews who detailed their journeys during this period hailed from Christian lands and many sailed to the Eastern Mediterranean aboard Christian owned vessels Yet Jacobs finds that their descriptions of the Near East subvert or reorient a decidedly Christian vision of the region The accounts from the crusader era in particular are often critical of the Christian church and present glowing portraits of Muslim Jewish relations By contrast some of the later travelers discussed in the book express condescending attitudes toward Islam Muslims and Near Eastern Jews Placing shifting perspectives on the Muslim world in their historical social and literary contexts Jacobs interprets these texts as mirrors of changing Jewish self perceptions As he argues the travel accounts echo the various ways in which premodern Jews negotiated their mingled identities which were neither exclusively Western nor entirely Eastern Traveler Behavior and Values, 2005 National Research Council (U.S.). Transportation Research Board, 2005 No 1926 includes the Fred Burggraf Award winning paper that describes the design of survey questions about advance travel planning for activities and examines the results in detail This issue also examines use of Global Positioning System data for analyzing route choices on the morning commute and the applicability at the national level of regional data on traveler preferences for park and ride facilities in the Netherlands pub website
