Cinematic Fictions David Seed, 2012-01-01 The phrase cinematic fiction has now been generally accepted into critical discourse but is usually applied to post war novels This book asks a simple question given their fascination with the new medium of film did American novelists attempt to apply cinematic methods in their own writings From its very beginnings the cinema has played a special role in defining American culture Covering the period from the 1910s up to the Second World War Cinematic Fictions offers new insights into classics like The Great Gatsby and The Grapes of Wrath discussing major writers critical writings on film and active participation in film making Cinematic Fictions is also careful not to portray cinema as a single or stable entity Some novelists drew on silent film others looked to the Russian theorists for inspiration and yet others turned to continental film makers rather than to Hollywood Film itself was constantly evolving during the first decades of the twentieth century and the writers discussed here engaged in a kind of dialogue with the new medium selectively pursuing strategies of montage limited point of view and scenic composition towards their different ends Contrasting a diverse range of cinematic and literary movements this will be compulsory reading for scholars of American literature and film British Methodist Revivalism and the Eclipse of Ecclesiology James E. Pedlar, 2023-12-01

Revivalism was one of the main causes of division in nineteenth century British Methodism but the role of revivalist theology in these splits has received scant scholarly attention In this book James E Pedlar demonstrates how the revivalist variant of Methodist spirituality and theology empowered its adherents and helped foster new movements even as it undermined the Spirit's work through the structures of the church Beginning with an examination of unresolved issues in John Wesley's ecclesiology Pedlar identifies a trend of increasing marginalisation of the church among revivalists via an examination of three key figures Hugh Bourne 1772 1852 James Caughey 1810 1891 and William Booth 1860 1932 He concludes by examining the more catholic and irenic theology of Samuel Chadwick 1860 1932 the leading Methodist revivalist of the early twentieth century who became a strong advocate of Methodist Union Pedlar shows that these theological differences must be considered alongside social and political factors in any well rounded assessment of the division and eventual reunification of British Methodism

Literary Obscenities Erik M. Bachman, 2018-03-14 This comparative historical study explores the broad sociocultural factors at play in the relationships among U S obscenity laws and literary modernism and naturalism in the early twentieth century Putting obscenity case law s crisis of legitimation and modernism s crisis of representation into dialogue Erik Bachman shows how obscenity trials and other attempts to suppress allegedly vulgar writing in the United States affected a wide ranging debate about the power of the printed word to incite emotion and shape behavior Far from seeking simply to transgress cultural norms or sexual boundaries Bachman argues proscribed authors such as Wyndham Lewis Erskine Caldwell Lillian Smith and James T Farrell refigured the capacity of writing to evoke the obscene so that readers might become aware of the social processes by which they were being turned into mass consumers voyeurs and racialized subjects Through such efforts these writers participated in debates about the libidinal efficacy of language with a range of contemporaries from behavioral psychologists and advertising executives to book cover illustrators magazine publishers civil rights activists and judges Focusing on case law and the social circumstances informing it Literary Obscenities provides an alternative conceptual framework for understanding obscenity s subjugation of human bodies desires and identities to abstract social forces It will appeal especially to scholars of American literature American studies and U S legal history

Conversations with Erskine Caldwell Erskine Caldwell, 1988 Conversations with Erskine Caldwell contains thirty two interviews with this major writer who during his long career enjoyed both the celebrity and the controversy that his books generated These collected interviews include what is apparently his first given in 1929 before the publication of The Bastard to one of the very last given only weeks before his death in April 1987 Caldwell was a lifelong outspoken opponent of censorship and an early advocate of racial equality His ideas were reflected in a number of important interviews and portraits often in newspapers or small journals not easily obtained today In his later years he became a kind of elder statesman celebrated as the last of that extraordinary generation of American writers which included Faulkner Fitzgerald Hemingway Wolfe and Steinbeck and which changed the face of American literature The interviews in this collection reveal Caldwell s attitudes toward the profession of writing He describes his early years of struggle his determination to prove himself as a writer and his tremendous success as the author of Tobacco Road and God s Little Acre two American classics He explains his attitude toward the South and his desire to bring about social reform through his writings He is also candid about his own personal trials his doubts and beliefs and the state of his critical reputation
