Carol Bove: Ten Hours, 2019-12-17 Carol Bove Ten Hours presents new work by sculpture's woman of steel as coined by Randy Kennedy in The New York Times. Her new sculptures expand on her investigations of materiality and form. Characterized by compositions of various types of steel, Bove's ongoing series of collage sculptures begun in 2016 amalgamates theoretical and art historical influences across time periods and disciplines. To create these lyrical and abstract assemblages, Bove pairs fabricated tubing that has been crushed and shaped at her studio with found metal scraps and a single highly polished disk. Luminous color is applied to parts of the composition, transforming the steel more commonly associated with inflexibility and heft into something that appears malleable and lightweight like clay fabric or crinkled paper. Bove's new works are smaller in scale and elaborate on the collage sculptures with more complex forms that twist, fold, and bend into postures that belie their material construction. Bove manipulates steel to varying degrees, rendering gentle folds in some and extreme, almost anthropomorphic contortions in others. Their contrasting textures, matte, glossy, or rough, create a further sense of visual play, heightening the surface tension throughout. The publication features a new interview with the artist by Johanna Burton. Published on the occasion of the artist's solo exhibition at David Zwirner Hong Kong in 2019, Carol Bove is available in both English-only and bilingual English/Chinese editions.

Behind the Cloud Peter Seele, Lucas Zapf, 2022-03-01 Thoughts are free, but they are no longer secret. Today, our data is automatically stored and analyzed by algorithms behind the cloud, where we no longer have control over our data. Our most private and secret information is entrusted to the internet and permanently collected, stacked, and linked to our digital twins. With and without our consent, privacy is dead. As Mark Zuckerberg put it, "The question is: How did we get there? And if the actors behind the cloud know everything, what is still private today, and are there any personal secrets at all when the gods behind the cloud possibly know us better than our friends and family?" The book uses a wealth of case studies, e.g., cryptocurrencies, journalism, digital traces of sexual preferences, to develop a typology of privacy in the history of ideas. Furthermore, it shows the areas of life in which big data and artificial intelligence have already made inroads. This book is a translation of the original German 2nd edition, Die Rückseite der Cloud by Peter Seele and Lucas Zapf, published by Springer Verlag GmbH, Germany, part of Springer Nature, in 2020. The translation was done with the help of artificial intelligence machine translation by the service DeepL.com. A subsequent human revision was done primarily in terms of content so that the book will read stylistically differently from a conventional translation.

Art Unlimited, 2008 Unlimited action

Dominic Johnson, 2018-12-07 Unlimited action concerns the limits imposed upon art and life and the means by which artists have exposed, refused, or otherwise reshaped the horizon of aesthetics and of the practice of art by way of performance art. It examines the performance of extremity as practices at the limits of the histories of performance and art. In performance art's most fertile and prescient decade, the 1970s, Dominic Johnson recounts and analyses game-changing performance events by six artists Kerry Trengove Ulay Genesis P Orridge Anne Bean the Kipper Kids and Stephen Cripps Through close encounters with these six artists and their works and a broader contextual milieu of artists and works Johnson articulates a counter history of actions in a new narrative of performance art in the 1970s to rethink and rediscover the history of contemporary art and performance
