Writing The Holocaust Identity Testimony Representation Oxford Historical Monographs:

Writing the Holocaust Zoë Vania Waxman, 2008-06-26 Arguing against the prevailing view that Holocaust survivors encouraged by a new and flourishing culture of witnessing have come forward only recently to tell their stories Writing the Holocaust examines the full history of Holocaust testimony from the first chroniclers confined to Nazi enforced ghettos to today's survivors writing as part of collective memory Zoë Waxman shows how the conditions and motivations for bearing witness changed immeasurably She reveals the multiplicity of Holocaust experiences the historically contingent nature of victims responses and the extent to which their identities secular or religious male or female East or West European affected not only what they observed but also how they have written about their experiences In particular she demonstrates that what survivors remember is substantially determined by the context in which they are remembering Writing the Holocaust Zoë Waxman, 2008 Writing the Holocaust examines the history of Holocaust testimony from the chroniclers confined to Nazi enforced ghettos to survivors writing as part of collective memory It shows how the conditions and motivations for bearing witness changed immeasurably Holocaust Studies, 2008 Genocide and Gender in the Twentieth Century Amy E. Randall, 2015-10-29 CHOICE Outstanding Academic Title 2016 Genocide and Gender in the Twentieth Century brings together a collection of some of the finest Genocide Studies scholars in North America and Europe to examine gendered discourses practices and experiences of ethnic cleansing and genocide in the 20th century It includes essays focusing on the genocide in Rwanda the Armenian genocide in the Ottoman Empire the Holocaust and ethnic cleansing and genocide in the former Yugoslavia The book looks at how historically and culturally specific ideas about reproduction biology and ethnic national racial and religious identity contributed to the possibility for and the unfolding of genocidal sexual violence including mass rape The book also considers how these ideas in conjunction with discourses of femininity and masculinity and understandings of female and male identities contributed to perpetrators tools and strategies for ethnic cleansing and genocide as well as victims experiences of these processes This is an ideal text for any student looking to further understand the crucial topic of gender in genocide studies Perspectives, 2006 Holocaust Literature: Agosin to Lentin S. Lillian Kremer, 2003 Review This encyclopedia offers an authoritative and comprehensive survey of the important writers and works that form the literature about the Holocaust and its consequences The collection is alphabetically arranged and consists of high quality biocritical essays on 309 writers who are first second and third generation survivors or important thinkers and spokespersons on the Holocaust An essential literary reference work this publication is an important addition to the genre and a solid value for public and academic libraries The Top 20 Reference Titles of the Year American Libraries May 2004

The Fallacy of Race and the Shoah Naomi Kramer, Ronald Headland, 1998-11-25 Naomi Kramer and Ronald Headland approach the universal issues that inevitably arise in discussing the Holocaust evil courage human dignity moral responsibility and the existential qualities of humankind through individual experience Consisting of two main parts the book explores one individual's experience during the Shoah and the historical context in which these experiences occurred. It includes a comprehensive historical summary of the Shoah and represents a succinct synopsis of existing secondary literature and primary sources. A bibliography and extensive glossary of terms relating to both Jewish life and the Shoah are included. Published in English. Choice, 1994. Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 2003-12. Gendered Testimonies of the Holocaust Petra Schweitzer, 2016. Gendered Testimonies of the Holocaust: Writing Life begins with the premise that writing proves virtually synonymous with survival, bearing the traces of life and of death carried within those who survived the atrocities of the Nazis. In reading specific testimonies by survivor writers Paul Celan, Charlotte Delbo, Olga Lengyel, Gisella Perl, and Dan Pagis, this text seeks to answer the question: How was it possible for these survivors to write about human destruction if death is such an intimate part of the survivors' survival? This book shows how the works of these survivors arise creatively from a vigorous spark: the desire to preserve memory. Testimony for each of these writers is a form of relation to oneself but also to others. It situates each survivor's anguish in writing as a need to write so as to affirm life. Writing as such always bears witness to the life of the one who should be dead by now and thus to the miracle of having survived. This book's claim is that the act of writing testimony manifests itself as the most intensive form of life possible. More specifically, its exploration of writing's affirmation of life and assertion of identity focuses on the gendered dimension of expression and language. This book does not engage in the binary structure of gender and the hierarchically constructed roles in terms of privileging the male over the female. The criteria that guide its discussion on Gendered Testimonies emerge out of Levinas's concept of maternity.
