the syntactic variation with English transitive verb particle constructions e.g. look up, sort out and transitive verb prepositional phrase PP constructions e.g. take into account, bear in mind. With these constructions the particle PP may occur either adjacent to the verb or separated from the verb by a direct object noun phrase DO NP. Being highly influenced by the weight of the DO NP in native L1 English, little is known about the factors including syntactic weight that govern this variation in L2 English. Against the background of possible native language transfer, this study examines whether advanced L1 German EFL learners are sensitive to the probabilistic effect of weight on syntactic choices with verb particle PP constructions and whether there are differences when compared to English native speakers. Triangulating comparative corpus data and experimental data, i.e. elicited production and elicited assessment, the study provides converging evidence from language production and intuition that the learners have acquired a near-native awareness of weight effects in verb particle PP constructions with differences indicating a tendency to more conservative choices.

Academic Vocabulary in Learner Writing Magali Paquot, 2010-07-22 Academic vocabulary is in fashion as witnessed by the increasing number of books published on the topic. In the first part of this book, Magali Paquot scrutinizes the concept of academic vocabulary and proposes a corpus-driven procedure based on the criteria of keyness, range and evenness of distribution to select academic words that could be part of a common core academic vocabulary syllabus. In the second part, the author offers a thorough analysis of academic vocabulary in the International Corpus of Learner English (ICLE) and describes the factors that account for learners' difficulties in academic writing. She then focuses on the role of corpora and more particularly learner corpora in EAP material design. It is the first monograph in which Granger's 1996 Contrastive Interlanguage Analysis is used to compare 10 ICLE learner sub-corpora in order to distinguish between linguistic features that are shared by learners from a wide range of mother tongue backgrounds and unique features that may be transfer-related.
