Charlotte Brontë's World of Death Robert Keefe,2014-07-03 By the age of eight Charlotte Bront had lost first her mother and then her two older sisters Later in a second wave of deaths her brother and two younger sisters died leaving her a sole survivor With subtlety and imagination Robert Keefe examines Bront s works as the creative response to these losses particularly the loss of her mother Terrified and yet fascinated by death struggling with guilt remorse and a deep sense of rejection Charlotte Bront found in art a way to come to terms with death through its symbolic reenactment In her earlier writings she created a fictional world marked by devices that allow her to control or deny death In her later works these mechanisms evolved into mature expressions of a profound psychological reality Bront s preoccupation with death is seen in her fiction in the recurring patterns of separation and exile Keefe traces the development of these motifs in the juvenilia and the four novels The Professor Jane Eyre Shirley and Villette Unique in its emphasis on the maternal relationships in Bront s life and art this study also explores certain aspects of her life that have often puzzled biographers

The Red Badge of Courage Stephen Crane, 1983 First published in 1895 America's greatest novel of the Civil War was written before 21 year old Stephen Crane had smelled even the powder of a sham battle But this powerful psychological study of a young soldier's struggle with the horrors both within and without that war strikes the reader with its undeniable realism and with its masterful descriptions of the moment by moment riot of emotions felt by me under fire Ernest Hemingway called the novel an American classic and Crane's genius is as much apparent in his sharp colorful prose as in his ironic portrayal of an episode of war so intense so immediate so real that the terror of battle becomes our own in a masterpiece so unique that many believe modern American fiction began with Stephen Crane Villette Charlotte
